Coroner and Dist. Atty. to Handle Long Beach Inquiry

Will Delve Into History of Pier, Which Was Built In 1905

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 27.—Coroner Calvin Hartwell and District Attorney John D. Fredericks conferred yesterday with reference to handling the inquiry into the pier disaster Saturday at Long Beach, which cost 37 lives. It was decided that there would be no grand jury investigation.

The coroner's jury, it was said, was vested with powers sufficient to cover the case and had the right to obtain subpoenas for manslaughter if the evidence developed at the inquest which begins Thursday warrants such action.

The coroner's jury will go into all phases of the disaster and will delve into the history of the construction of which was accompanied by charges of graft. The structures were completed in 1905 and 1906. J. B. Loebe, a member of the city council at that time, and Mayor Eno were charged with having accepted bribes from the contractor, Loebe, was the only man brought to trial. The jury disagreed and without going to trial a second time Loebe turned $1000 into the city treasury. No action was taken against the contractor, John Baird, and the structures as built were accepted.

HUSBAND ASKS FOR DIVORCE

On Grounds of Cruel Treatment by His Wife

Says She Broke His Arm and Dragged Him by Legs

The jury waived session of the superior court was resumed at the court house in Gorham street this morning. At the opening of the session Judge Jennings announced his finding in the case of Carmody vs. Carmody, the amount of which was $1051.26 with costs for the claimant.

The next case to be brought to the attention of the court was that of Annie L. Veymouth vs. Daniel M. Veymouth, divorce proceedings. The case was not contested, but the libellant was called to the witness stand and in the course of her testimony she said she was married to Daniel M. Veymouth on Feb. 3, 1910, and lived with him until April 2, 1911, when she said she was forced to leave him on account of abusive treatment.

A decree nisi for cruel and abusive treatment was granted and the libellant was granted the custody of her minor child.

A case which was the cause of considerable amusement on the part of the few spectators who were present enough to understand the witness was that of William J. Bickelstaff, a farmer by occupation, who formerly lived on a farm in Billerica, but who for some time past has been making his home in Chelsea. Mr. Bickelstaff brought divorce proceedings against his wife on the grounds of abusive treatment.

The witness proved a very hot disposition, although he endeavored to make himself understood, but fate was against him, for only recently he underwent a dental operation and had his teeth extracted. The witness was handicapped by the fact that the dentist pointed to him and he did not seem to be able to articulate his words properly. The court stenographer appealed to him several times to speak plainer, and finally the attorney for the defendant advised Mr. Bickelstaff to speak louder and plainer, but this was impossible, he said and he so informed the court, at the same time explaining the situation by displaying a large cavity filled with dental machinery.

The court stenographer then brought her chair nearer the witness and the testimony was resumed. Mr. Bickelstaff said he was married in 1895 and has four children. He told the court he formerly occupied a farm in Billerica, but some time ago he gave up farming business and removed to Chelsea. He said he had no trouble with his better half previous to 1911, but since that date the last time was recalled.

"In January, 1911," said witness, "I was troubled over religious matters. My wife struck me on the arm with an elm stick and fractured the member. This happened in the kitchen in the presence of my four children. 'Witness said he did not strike his wife, and also denied being a drinking man. He related an incident which occurred, he said, when he was in his field near a stone wall. His wife came along, grabbed him by the legs, threw him to the ground, covered his face with dirt and struck him. He said she later got hold of him by the legs and dragged him to the house, the trip being a very unpleasant one.

On another occasion witness said he was in the house and asked his wife for his gold watch and chain, but instead of acceding to his demand, she threw him to the floor, and grabbing him by the throat, struck his head against the floor several times. He said on this particular occasion he was unconscious for some time.

In the course of the testimony Mr. Bickelstaff stated his wife had him taken to the insane asylum in Worcester, where he remained for six months. He said during his stay in the institution his wife presented a petition to the probate court in order to take possession of his property, but the action did not amount to anything. He was released later, he said, through the efforts of his sister.

During the entire testimony, the wife, a tiny woman, weighing about 125 pounds, her head adorned with beautiful auburn hair, sat smilingly, watching the efforts of her husband, who had the time of his life trying to get his testimony in shape, sometimes using a note book to refresh his memory. She really did not appear to be the cruel character alleged by her husband.

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT

LONG SESSION OF MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

Big Grist of Business Disposed of--A Lively Discussion on Disputed Street Bills for Last Year

The first regular forenoon meeting of the municipal council was held in the old common council chamber at city hall today. The meeting was called for 11 o'clock, but, as usual, the council was late in convening. The forenoon meetings were suggested by the mayor and other members of the council expressed themselves as heartily in favor of the proposition, especially because it will allow the commissioners an unbroken afternoon in which to attend to other business connected with their departments, both at their offices and on the outside. Commissioners Barrett, Cummings and Donnelly have considerable outside business to attend to and hereafter, with the exception of an occasional hearing, they can attend to it in the afternoon, devoting the forenoon, if necessary, to office engagements.

Mayor O'Donnell called to order at 11:15 o'clock and Assistant City Clerk William McCarthy was sworn by the mayor to act as clerk in the absence of City Clerk Stephen Flynn, who was attending the supreme judicial court at Boston.

The first business before the meeting was the drawing of six traverses jurors to serve at the superior court to be held at Cambridge on the first Monday of June, and the following were drawn by Commissioner Cummings: Abbott Lawrence, 53 Berkeley ave., jeweler.

James A. Jameson, 129 Concord street, machinist.

Charles F. Atherton, 12 Cheney place, clerk.

Edward L. Childs, 52 Warwick street, overseer.

Marshall P. Cummings, 29 Chelmsford street, clerk.

Sam Dean, 65 Queen street, overseer.

Heard House, Damaged

An order to pay Harry R. Cowdrey $25 for damage to his house, said to have been caused by the agents of the moth department, said sum to be charged to the appropriation for moths, was approved.

Hearings on Poles

Hearings were given the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. for permission to erect 49 poles in various places along the city streets.

The petition of George H. Neville for permission to set out two maple trees in front of 658 School street was referred to the commissioner of streets and highways.

The petition of Henry F. Carr, park commissioner, for concrete sidewalks abutting Mt. Vernon park, was referred to the commissioner of streets and highways as was also a petition by Mr. Carr for concrete sidewalk with curbing on the westerly side of South street, from the Edison school to Summer street, abutting the South common, and another for a concrete sidewalk on the southerly side of Summer street, from Thorndike street to South street, abutting the South common.

Petitions and Hearings

The petition of Jeremiah F. Murphy for an electric light at the corner of Fourth avenue and Mt. Hope street was referred to the commissioner of streets and highways.

The petition of Margaret McCullough for abatement of sewer assessment on Poplar street, amounting to $50, was referred to the commissioner of streets and highways.

Tuesday, June 17, at 11 a. m., was set as the time for hearings on the petitions of Walter F. Thissell, Burton A. Kinney, George F. White and Charles E. Cook, for license to keep store and use gasoline.

For More Poles

Petitions of the Lowell Electric Light Co., asking permission to erect a pole on Riverside street, corner of Colonial avenue and to relocate a pole at the corner of Pawtucket and Wampanoag streets, were assigned for a hearing, June 10, at 11 a. m.

A hearing was ordered June 10, at 11 a. m., on the petition of the N. E. T. & T. Co. for permission to erect one pole on Griffin street at the corner of South Whipple street, and one pole on Coral street on lot line between numbers 21 and 20, and still another for permission to erect three poles on Crawford street, between White street and Gershon avenue.

Wire Attachments

The petition of the Lowell Electric Light Co. for permission to attach its wires to the poles of the N. E. T. & T. Co., on Rogers street and Butnam road, was referred to the commissioners of streets and highways and public property and licenses.

To the same commissioners were referred the petitions of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. for permission to attach additional wires and fixtures to its pole No. 62 on Griffin street; wires and fixtures to poles of the Lowell Electric Light Corporation on Methuen street; wires and fixtures to poles of the Lowell Electric Light Co. on Hale street, between Howard and Grand streets.

Lowell Electric Light Corporation

Mr. Tuttle remembered the requisition and said that it failed of the necessary names for the purchase of the machine.

Mr. Brown said he understood that when he ordered the machine he thought he was taking it on trial. He did not think the city was responsible for the bill inasmuch as the requisition did not bear the signatures of a majority of the council.

Question of Authority

Mr. Nelson said he did not know that Mr. Brown did not have the authority to purchase the machine without the endorsement of the municipal council. "I didn't know it either," said Mr. Brown.

Mr. Nelson, in reply to questions by Commissioner Cummings, stated that he had sold machines to the city of Lowell, three or four machines, but had never had any dealings with the purchasing agent.

Replying to Commissioner Brown, Mr. Nelson said that about all machines sold by him or the company he represented were sold on trial.

Asked by Mr. Brown if the old adding machine in the department of streets was capable of doing the work, Clerk Tuttle said, that while the new machine was more complete, the old machine was good enough. "In fact, we could get along without any machine," said Mr. Tuttle.

Mr. Brown finally stated that if the council saw fit to approve the bill he would not dispute it, but he thought it ought to be charged up to the street department for 1913, for he allowed it was only a question of time when that department would need a new machine.

Mr. Donnelly said he did not think it was fair to him to have to pay $25 out of his appropriation for something that he did not require.

Mr. Brown then said that the assessors' department was in need of an adding machine and he moved that it be transferred to that department.

Mayor O'Donnell said that he would first be necessary to accept the machine. Mr. Cummings made a motion to that effect and it was so voted.

Mr. Brown then renewed his motion, that the machine be transferred to the assessors' department. The motion was seconded by Mr. Cummings and it was so voted. The bill for the machine was then approved.

Memorial Day Decorations

The order appropriating $40 for the decoration of city hall and Memorial building, Memorial day, May 30, was adopted.

There were several remonstrants to the location of poles in Walnut street as petitioned for by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., and the remonstrants will receive due consideration.

Gasoline Licenses

Commissioner Cummings in moving reference to the proper committee of petitions of different parties to keep, store, and sell gasoline, stated that in his opinion there are persons displaying gasoline signs who have not been granted licenses to handle or sell it. "I would like to know where they get their authority," he said, and as Mr. Cummings has charge of licenses he will have to do his own investigation.

Teachers Extend Invitation

The mayor gave notice that he had received, for the members of the musical council, an invitation from the Teachers' association to attend the entertainment at the Opera House tomorrow night. On motion of Alderman Cummings the invitation was accepted.

Discussion of Bills

The matter of the discussion of certain bills against the city was taken up at 11:45 o'clock.

The first bill taken up was that of E. A. Wilson & Co., and Mr. Wilson submitted a statement of the company's bills against the city for the year 1912, on account of the street department. The first bill called for $1617.93 for cement. There was some controversy over the delivery of one car of cement, and Mr. Wilson explained that while the company had not checked the car, it being the practice in the case of carloads to charge rather than to check, the bags containing the cement had been checked by an employee of the street department, and he knew, he said, that the department's teams were carrying cement on the date on which the car was delivered.

Commissioner Brown, who had charge of streets last year, finally agreed that the car was delivered, but disputed the amount of $175, having to do with bags. The matter went over for further consideration.

Burroughs' Adding Machine

F. T. Nelson, representing the Burroughs' adding machine company, appeared to argue the validity of that company's bill of $325 for an adding machine delivered to the street department in 1912.

Mr. Nelson read a letter that his company, he said, had received from Commissioner Brown, in which the latter ordered the machine, and another letter showing its delivery. The sale of the machine was dated Jan. 17, 1912. Mr. Nelson said there were no interest charges on the bill.

Commissioner Brown called upon Clerk Tuttle of the street department and asked relative to the requisition for the adding machine in question.

Removal of Lights

In pursuance with an order submitted by Commissioner Donnelly, the council voted to discontinue the following named gas lights:

Hurd street, at the First Universalist church; Fletcher street at the corner of Pawtucket street; Gershon avenue, at corner of Mt. Hope street; Linden street at corner of Hobson street; Gorham street, corner of Congress street; Gorham street, cor. of Elmworth st.; Westford st., opposite Marlborough street; Nichols street, at corner of Branch street; Hanks street at corner of Rogers street; Westworth ave., corner of Hovey street; Perkins street, corner of Alken street; Merrimack street, opposite Gage street; Brookings street, corner of French street; rear Edison school on South common. These lights have been replaced by electric lights.

The council also voted to make the following changes in gas light locations:

Light on Salem street, opposite Common street, to the corner of Decatur street; light on Nicollet street at corner of Stevens street, to a location half way between Stevens street and Harvard street.

westerly side of South street from Gorham street northerly about 100 feet, was adopted.

An order to install incandescent lights, as follows, was adopted: Opposite 1115 Westford street; Rogers street, near city line; Tenth street, between Christian street and Mt. Pleasant street, the expense of the same to be charged to the appropriation for street lighting.

An order granting permission to E. F. Harding to plant three trees on the westerly side of Wilder street, was adopted.

An order to connect the culvert now crossing Andover street between Wentworth avenue and Butnam road, with the sewer in Andover street, was adopted.

Several petitions by the N. E. T. & T. Co. and Lowell Electric Light Corporation for permission for wire attachment, other than those already specified, were granted.

Fairmount Street Extension

The matter having to do with the extension of Fairmount street from Mansur street to Wyman street, was taken up and the order for the extension and construction of Fairmount street called for $2000 and a time was set for its consideration. The date set was June 10, at 11 a. m.

The proposition of the Union National bank to pay $2000 toward the extension of Fairmount street was read by the mayor and approved by the board, the money being subscribed by abutters in Fairmount street.

Money for Parks

Mayor O'Donnell called attention to the request of the park commission for about $3600 for concrete sidewalks on the North and South commons and Fort Hill park. Alderman Cummings said he would like to see an itemized account from the park department setting forth what the commission intended to do with the money already in its possession. The matter was referred to Mr. Cummings.

On motion of Commissioner Brown it was voted to ask the city solicitor for an opinion as to whether or not it is necessary to advertise all purchases by the city amounting to more than $500. At 1:30 o'clock adjournment was made to 2 o'clock.

ROOSEVELT LIBEL SUIT

Adore Roosevelt took the witness stand today in his libel suit against George A. Newett, who in an editorial charged him with drunkenness. The former president entered a denial. He admitted using light wines with his meals but never touched strong liquors except on advice of his physician or after great exposure. He said he did not smoke nor touch beer.

After reviewing his career, Colonel Roosevelt testified under the questioning of his attorneys in substance as follows:

"I have never drunk a cocktail or a highball in my life; with the exceptions noted I never drank whiskey or brandy except under the advice of a physician. I don't care for the taste of either. I don't smoke and I don't drink beer, because I dislike smoking and dislike the taste of beer. I never have drunk whiskey or brandy except when the doctor prescribed it or possibly on some occasions after great exposure when I was chilled through. But it has been certainly 15 or 20 years since I have drunk it because of being chilled. I never have drunk beer, nor do I drink red wine."

—Letter to Labor Council Secretary

SAN JOSE, CAL., May 27.—In a letter received today by Walter J. Matthews, secretary of the San Jose Labor Council, Governor Johnson writes:

On the subject ever enacted at the California legislature and asserts that any man who claims to favor a measure which will signal a referendum against this law is either an idiot or is bought.

"Every other bill that has been before the legislature for the last eight years," says the governor's letter, "has been in one fashion or another for being and the only two bills that were seriously discussed during Mr. Johnson's stay here provided for the leasing of land but for the right to purchase and hold for a limited period as well."

Commenting on labor opposition to the alien land law because it was passed as less drastic than desired, the governor says:

"I have been shocked and horrified at the attitude of some of the labor people of San Francisco, but I am proud to say that those labor leaders whom we respect have taken the same position that our people in Santa Clara county have taken. We have done this

TWO TAILOR SHOP FIRES

Local Fire Department
Kept on the Jump

There were two quite lively fires to occupy the fire department, one last evening and the other shortly after midnight. It is a strange coincidence that in both cases the fire was in a tailor shop.

The first blaze was one which caused damage to the amount of approximately $1000 in the small tailoring shop of Steve Urban at the corner of Gorham and Chambers street. The alarm was rung in from box 51 shortly after half-past nine. Mr. Urban and a helper were working with some benzine which caught fire. There were a number of expensive suits and cloth in the place and these were destroyed. Pictures and stock were lost and the building itself was saved only with great difficulty.

The other tailor shop damaged was that of A. Barbera, who is located in the Talley building in Merrimack street. The blaze was extinguished before any great damage had been done but there was some loss by water. Rose Jordan Hartford, a milliner on the ground floor, said that her stock was damaged to some extent.

Bulgaria Regards War as Inevitable

VIENNA, May 27.—Bulgaria regards war as inevitable, according to despatches from Sofia. Serbia's demand for a revision of the alliance treaty is regarded as an ultimatum and it is expected that the Bulgarian cabinet will flatly refuse the demand and insist upon strict compliance with the treaty.

Eighty thousand troops are massed near Sofia and other troops are being hurried forward in Macedonia.

J. F. SAUNDERS

Starts a Great Piano Contest on the Sale of Quaker Oats at Reduced
Price

J. F. Saunders is never happy except when he is trying to make somebody else happy. There will soon be music in the air in the vicinity of J. F. Saunders' great market and provision store. Here is one of the latest stunts that John will pull off for the benefit of the young folks and it is a short and sweet story. It is a contest whereby some boy or girl in the city will get a beautiful piano absolutely free of cost by simply helping to get rid of 450 cases of Quaker Corn Flake, and this cereal is very popular and is certainly one of the best brands used as a breakfast food. There is a limit to the number of these packages at this special sale so that in a very short time some enterprising child will be the proud possessor of this beautiful upright piano. Quaker Oats is put up in packages and retailed for ten cents a package, but as a special inducement to advertise in this novel way Mr. Saunders has decided to let them go at six cents a package, four cents under the regular. So if a little boy or girl should happen to call at your house today or tomorrow

BURKES HAVE GOOD TEAM

Will Play South Ends on Friday

The Burkes and South Ends are putting in considerable practice work for their ball game, which is scheduled to be played at Spaulding park next Friday afternoon in connection with the carnival and field day of the Lowell A. C. Both teams will use their strongest lineups and the contest should prove a very interesting and exciting one. Manager Conklin of the Burkes feels that the success of his team against the Progressive club team on last Saturday demonstrates that he has corralled the best team that has ever represented the society and one of the most formidable that has played semi-professional ball here in many days. The South Ends, too, boast of a strong team and aver that they will put a dent in the Burkes' reputation. Following the game a series of field events with some of the best performers in this city and vicinity, participating will be run off.

The game will be preceded by three boxing exhibitions. In the big number, Joe Fagan of Boston will show against Johnny Dohan of New York. These two clever boys will entertain for twelve rounds, and their number should be an enjoyable one. In the semi-final exhibition Joe Morgan of Manchester and Gus Lenning of Boston will appear. These, too, are fifty performers and their offering is bound to be a hummer. In the preliminary Gardner Brooks of Lowell will exchange greetings with Jerry Lucente, of the Hub. Joe Thomas will officiate as a third man.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

A live young team of twelve-year-old lads who have recently stepped into the line light on the amateur baseball stage are the Riverside Grays who on Saturday last humiliated the Young Textiles who were considered to be quite a strong outfit. The Riverside Grays have just got new baseball uniforms and are well organized a junior club as will be found anywhere in the city. It is now that some of those hot air artists who have been sending challenges in all directions better watch out and keep quiet. The Riverside Grays challenge in the city or vicinity. Send replies to Francis Gillick, 173 Riverside street.

J. Knox, manager of the Cubs, said yesterday that although the baseball season is still young, nevertheless there are already numerous teams claiming the amateur championship of the city. These teams are away off if they think they have anything on us and if any of them still think they are champions, why don't they show their faces instead of merely having their names in the paper? We have a better claim to the championship than any of them," and as he spoke, Mr. Knox had a look of determination on his countenance that bode ill for any hot air teams that cross his path. Write to him at North Chelmsford if you have the courage to play the Cubs.

BURKETT'S BUSTERS WON

Lowell Lost an Exciting Game at Worcester

Lowell lost a hard fought game yesterday when Jesse Burkett's outfit defeated them by the score of 4 to 3. Zeiser and Daly were the battery for the Lowell team, while Wolf and McCune delivered and received for Worcester.

Lowell lost a golden opportunity to score the tying run in the ninth inning, but slipped up when Monahan failed to touch third base, and, after going back to tag the bag, was thrown out at the plate. McCune made a great play when he blocked Monahan off the plate, the Lowell catcher having ample opportunity to touch home plate but being blocked off by the Worcester catcher.

The contest contained some good hitting features but the pitching on both sides was rather characteristic of an inferior outfit. There were but five strikeouts in the entire game.

When a good opportunity presented itself in one of the innings, the Lowell outfit appeared to be asleep and failed to live up to the several favorable circumstances in the fourth and fifth innings. Clemens swung the willow to good advantage, connecting for three safe ones, one of them a two bagger, out of five times at bat. The visitors got away with several stolen bases when Daly's whip did not show up as well as it might have. The score:

JOE DAWSON TO DRIVE

Annual Auto Race at Indianapolis Friday

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 27.—Joe Dawson, the driver who won the 500-mile sweepstakes race here last year, probably will drive a machine in the third annual automobile race on Memorial day, it was announced last night.

The contest board of the American Auto association last night refused to accept the inventor of one of the cars to drive in the race on the ground that he lacked experience. Dawson, it was said, would steer his machine.

The elimination trials will start this morning and continue until 6 p. m. Thursday night. Each car must do 75 miles an hour and come within certain technical requirements in various dimensions.

Referee A. R. Pardington of New York, who will have charge of the race, arrived last night and will direct the preliminary contests. Tonight the drivers will be instructed in the rules governing the event.

Bedient Picked Good Game

The Yankees' champions won from New York yesterday, mainly through the great pitching of Bedient, and the all around playing of Speaker. Bedient allowed the Yankees only four hits.

Boston scored two runs in the fourth inning on hits by Yerkes and Speaker, a stolen base by Speaker. Derick's fumble of Henrichsen's drive, and Jarvin's sacrifice fly, after New York had scored one in the first. Hartzel's error on Henrichsen's grounder and Engle's triple scored another run for Boston in the ninth. The score by innings:

First base on errors: New York 1; Boston 3. Two base hit: Carrigan.

FOSS REFUSES DEMANDS

Turns Down Request for Wage Increase

BOSTON, May 27.—Governor Foss yesterday refused the demands of the employees of the B. F. Sturtevant company, of which he is the treasurer, in which they have asked for a 20 per cent increase in wages.

This action may precipitate a strike. The men have already threatened to take action unless some concession was made. The governor in a statement issued last night made no reference to any further hope of arbitration in the matter.

Governor Foss is also president of the Becker Milling Machine company of Hyde Park and the Meade-Morrison Manufacturing company of Cambridge. The international officers of the metal trades unions have announced that a strike in any one of these plants would be followed by a general strike. This strike would extend to all three plants, involving more than 1500 men.

In his statement Governor Foss says: "If the Sturtevant company's operatives insist upon an increase at this time, then the company will be loath to fill their places by imported labor, the only other expedient being that the works must be closed."

The governor says that to increase the wages in compliance with the demands would mean that the plant would have to be operated at a loss. "The request of the men comes at an inopportune time, when the industries of the country are seeking to adjust themselves to the impending changes in the tariff policy of the national government," says the governor.

order and to keep people distributed so that no one would be injured in the crush. The best of it all, they were buyers. One of the great novelties of this special sale was to see the merchant prince himself as busy as any clerk on the floor selling goods. This is not an every day occurrence, and, watching the head of the firm we said that he can wield the yard stick as he did long years ago. These silks are from the products of the best silk mills in the country and Mr. Pollard has the exclusive control of these remnants, and, naturally, he has no competitor in this particular kind of merchandise. The sale usually lasts two or three days but we doubt very much, judging from today's crowd, that the sale can last more than a day before the 30,000 yards will be carried away by bargain hunters. It certainly is the most attractive sale that takes place in our city when the women get such great bargains in silk. We would advise every lady who wants anything in this line to see the bargains before they are all disposed of.

ANNUAL FIELD DAY OF THE HIGH SCHOOL REGIMENT A GREAT SUCCESS—CO. F WON FIRST PRIZE—PRIVATE CAHILL GOLD MEDAL

INDIAN CLUB DRILL, GIRLS' BATTALION
EXHIBITION IN WALL SCALING

PRIV. STURGES
Silver Medal

PRIV. CAHILL
Gold Medal

A crowd of 3000 enthusiasts were assembled at Spaulding park yesterday to the greensward in front of the afternoon when the High School regiment, in full dress regalia, marched on grandstand, while the 6th regiment band, which led the line, played Dixie. The regiment marched into the enclosure at 2:15 o'clock and circled the field once before stacking arms at the northwest corner of the park. As the regiment, with Col. Wilkins and his staff at its head, passed the grandstand on their circuit of the park, the spectators were greeted by a very striking picture. Two large American flags, carried by the color sergeants of the battalions, the company pennants waving from the gun barrel of each sergeant and the military precision with which each revolution was executed brought forth a storm of thunderous applause from the crowded stands.

Order Slightly Changed

The order of events was slightly changed. With the entire regiment drawn up along the line, from first to third base the second battalion of girls on the command of Major McMahon took the field exercise of the day, the wand drill. With the battalion officers acting as guards at each corner and along the sides, a sixty foot square was first formed, the girls marching to the strains of the march played by Hibbard's orchestra with the two girl pianists, Misses Ruth Mower and Elsie Thompson. The battalion next broke into fours and after criss-crossing the boys marched to the arena for their exhibition in Butt's manual. This manual is a series of exercises which the privates and non-commissioned officers go through with their rifles led by their officers with their swords. This exhibition was in charge of Lieutenant-Colonel Wilson.

No sooner had the first battalion left the foreground of the park than the second battalion, Major Goldman in command, took the field and to the rhythm of the drum corps gave an exhibition of the "setting up" exercises in which they had been drilled during the year.

Caps were laid aside and coats were unbuttoned while the schoolboy soldiers went through the strenuous exercises which go to make the program as practiced at the high school. The work of the battalion was very uniform and showed close application to the instruction which has been given them by Military Instructor Doyle.

Individual Drill

Eighteen boys marched on to the field in single file when the call for the individual drill for the gold and silver medals was issued. The squad was commanded by Major Goldman. Each boy wore a number on the front of his uniform by which the judges identified attached, making each movement of the clubs a very pretty picture. Major Mary Sherburne was in charge of the Indian club drill and both she and her command acquitted themselves to the great satisfaction of the crowded stands. Round after round of applause rang forth as Major Sherburne stepped down from the platform. The presentation of bouquets to the first battalion was an even greater ceremony than that which followed the wand drill by the second.

The exhibition given by both battalions of girls reflected the highest praise upon the work of Miss Margaret Teague, the instructor in both battalions went through an inspection by the judges, the captain of the best appearing company being awarded a sword. The result of this as well as all the other prize winners was withheld until later in the afternoon.

Miss Margaret Teague with her class of freshmen gave a very pretty exhibition of aesthetic dancing, this number of the program being a decided feature of the day's events. The girls were attired in white dresses, trimmed at the collars and elbows with pink ribbons while ribbons of the same color were woven into their hair. The various steps and graceful movements of the first year girls received a hearty round of applause.

The dumb bell drill by Companies D. of the first battalion, and E. of the second was also a very pleasing contribution to the day's attractions. Captains Alta Leary and Ruth K. Choate led their commands during the drill.

Company Drill

The drill for company honors was the next event on the field day program. Company F, Captain William Sydeman in command, was the first of the three companies that lived through Friday's elimination contest, to appear for the judges' inspection. As Company F trotted off the right hand side of the drill grounds Company G, with Captain Boutwell H. Foster in command, marched into position from the left side. Company H, commonly called the "Brownies," was the last of the three chosen companies to appear and led by Captain Napoleon J. Vigeant, gave a very precise conception of military tactics. It could be plainly seen, even by uninitiated spectators that the last named company, which is composed of the smallest boys in the school, were far in advance of their larger opponents when it came to knowledge of military maneuvers. Directly following the company compe-

UNIFORM FACTORY LAWS CAUCUSES OF 3 PARTIES

Phila. Manufacturers to All Will Discuss Com-
Launch Campaign mittee Assignments

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—Philadelphia textile manufacturers at a largely attended meeting here last night agreed to launch a campaign for uniform factory laws in all the big industrial states and determined to invite the national child labor committee and the Consumers League to co-operate with them. The association adopted a resolution urging the Pennsylvania legislature to provide for the appointment of a commission to investigate the conditions relating to the employment of women and minors to a certain extent of occupational diseases to which they are liable, report the best means for the prevention of such diseases and to confer with similar commissions from other industrial states with a view to agreeing upon a program of uniform legislation.

The manufacturers further agreed that should the legislature fail to provide for such a commission a commission would be created by the association in conjunction with other organizations interested in the subject.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—All three parties in the house will have caucuses or conferences on committee assignments within a fortnight at least.

The progressives will begin to make up the list of 35 representatives who have recognition on various committees during this congress. The democrats have but authorized a call for caucus on Monday, June 2, to pass up on the committee personnel as framed by the ways and means committee majority as the committee on committees. The republican committee list to be submitted to Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee is almost ready and if a sufficient number of republicans are in the city this week, Mr. Mann, the republican leader, will call a caucus though caucus approval of his list is not essential.

BRYAN GOES MARKETING

Secretary of State Visits
Market Place Daily

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Secretary Bryan is not too busily engaged with the affairs of state to do the marketing for the Bryan household. Almost any morning the secretary of state may be seen in a local market place with a large basket, swinging from his left arm. Col. Bryan seems to enjoy marketing to the full. He allows the crowd and apparently does not mind it any more than he did when making his political campaign tours.

Secretary Bryan's fondness for the radish of the white variety is now generally known among market men and they try to keep on hand the kind he likes. The other day, however, much to colonel's disappointment, his favorite vegetable was not to be had. "You know, I'm just crazy about white radishes," said the secretary to a woman shopping beside him. "No other kind will do," she continued his search among the stands.

THE BACHELOR GIRLS

Report of Recent Party—Will Elect
Officers for Summer Dance

An important meeting of the Bachelor Girls, will be held tonight and it is expected that all this circle will be present. A general report will be heard from their recent musical song revue and will no doubt be an interesting and encouraging one as the girls feel that their entertainment was successful in every way.

They will also make complete arrangements for their annual summer dancing party which will take place at Lakeview on Friday evening, June 27th, with Miss's orchestra in attendance. Election of officers for this coming event in itself will be interesting as there are many candidates for that coveted position, floor marshal. Other important business relative to the girls' club will come up at this meeting and will be acted upon. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock.

TURKEY-BALKAN TREATY

London Trying to Solve
Deadlock

LONDON, May 27.—A plan is under discussion here for solving the deadlock in regard to the signature of the peace treaty between Turkey and the Balkan states. The European powers recommend to those states which are ready to do so to sign Sir Edward Grey's draft treaty without waiting for their allies. It is pointed out that Bulgaria could thus conclude terms with Turkey and the European powers could then devote their attention to inducing the recalcitrant states to sign.

Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, received the peace delegates separately today and urged them to sign the draft treaty, but the Greek delegates replied that they must refer the question to their government at Athens.

ARBITRATION IS URGED

Attitude of Northern Baptist Church Set Forth

DETROIT, Mich., May 27.—The attitude of the northern Baptist church in matters relating to labor, the home and family, and social service was set forth in the report of the social service commission read last night by Rev. Samuel Zane Batten before the convention now in session here. The commission presented a declaration of principles which are to be adopted by the church as its platform in dealing with these subjects.

The principal planks are:
Right of both laborer and employer to organize is recognized. Adequate means of conciliation and arbitration urged. Release from employment on day in seven demanded. A living wage as a minimum in every industry and the highest wages that each industry can afford. Gradual and reasonable reduction in hours of labor to the lowest practical point. Suitable provision for workers in case of fire and for those incapacitated by injury. For the protection of the family by the single standard of purity, uniform divorce laws, proper regulation of marriage and proper housing. For the abolition of child labor. For such regulations of the conditions of labor for women as shall safeguard the physical and moral health of the community. For the protection of the individual and social, economic and moral waste of the liquor traffic. Theological seminaries to have courses in social service that shall train pastors and workers for church leadership in community betterment. Increase in social service commission from 15 to 18 members, the three new members to be women and that one woman member of the commission be elected each year.

Merrimack Square Theatre
In a manner that won the sincere and hearty commendation of a discriminating audience Miss Grace Young and her clever company presented that comedy drama, "The White Sister," at the Merrimack Square theatre yesterday. The piece requires no word of praise on our part for its strength and beauty are well known. It is one that has been a favorite of Miss Viola Allen, and the same in which that renowned actress scored so remarkable a success. Miss Young, whose ability is rated very high by the theatre-going public of Lowell and elsewhere, gave an excellent interpretation of the part of "Giovanna," a Dominican nun, and once more impressed upon her audience, which by the way, was large, the fact that she is in her acting far above the ordinary and far above what would be expected of the usual summer stock companies. Many firmly believe that she has before her a career of distinction in theatrical circles.

A soldier and his sweetheart figure as the principal characters in this piece. The soldier is summoned to war and the report reaches his lover that he is dead. Broken hearted, the girl enters a convent to begin the life of a nun and the complications arise when the soldier returns alive to show that the reports of his death are false. To

REDFIELD'S INVESTIGATION

Possibly no feature of the tariff fight has aroused a greater degree of interest and resultant criticism than the declaration of Secretary Redfield that the government intends to look into the affairs of any concern which may reduce wages after the passing of the tariff bill, to determine if such a reduction was forced on the manufacturer, or was due to political subterfuge. Those who oppose the administration on general principles, and the tariff in particular, look upon the governmental plans as unwarranted presumption and blame the administration for thus daring to step into the private affairs of any individual.

While it is not at all probable that the government will be called upon to avail itself of its undoubted but little used prerogative, it is not certain that its declaration is blame-worthy. Its action is surely not so reprehensible as that of the individual would be who would strive to embarrass the government by juggling his private interests, only while his interference in national affairs is dishonest, the government investigation which would get to the root of it is at least honest and in a just cause. If a man forgets his duty to society so far as to bring suffering on others to discredit those who are at the head of affairs, he richly deserves any investigation which may result, although the punishment may be but the publicity which would ensue. Publicity, however, is oftentimes the most severe punishment in the case of the manufacturer.

Those who ascribe the declaration of the secretary of commerce and labor to a desire to get right with the workman must remember that the government would "get right" with all parties far more easily by such a spirit of compromise as would hold on to the externals of democratic principles while at the same time meeting the special interests half way. Such, however, has not been their rule of action, and there is no declaration of the president or party leaders on which the charge of insincerity can be based. Those who criticize the announcement of Secretary Redfield adversely ought to remember that those whom such an investigation would hurt are those who deserve to be hurt.

COMMERCIALIZED BRUTALITY

The tragic death of Luther McCarthy will very probably give a renewed impetus to the growing movement to prevent prize fights as they are generally conducted in this country. Such exhibitions are now prohibited in many states and there is a tendency manifested to make this prohibition general. While pugilism in itself is being thus generally condemned, the public dislike does not extend to boxing as a sport—the type of boxing which has long been called "the manly art."

This "manly art" has departed a great deal from the type of boxing which gave it its name. Physical superiority is no longer the main issue; the purse is the chief consideration. Those who want to see the bout in which McCarthy, the dead "white hope," lost his life, like those who want to see the Johnson-Jeffries fight and all the other recent fights of any importance, expected to see a victory won by the roughest methods and the deadliest blows. There may be art and science, indeed, but no art or science can prevent the stopping of the heart or the dislocation of the neck by a violent blow. It did not in the case of McCarthy, who was physically superior apparently to the average pugilist.

It is too bad that our advanced civilization has left us a large portion of the public who still countenance and encourage such spectacles of ferocious brutality as the average modern prize fight. To them the usual standards of life and death seem to be set aside. They do not see anything very tragic in the death of the unfortunate boxer and no doubt he is blamed for falling down so easily. On top of the death announcement we read that his opponent—Pelky—is going south "as soon as the affair is settled" to fight "Gunboat Smith." Can anything more utterly heartless or more absolutely brutal be conceived? How long can it continue in this civilized land? There are many cases of extreme brutality in the prize ring that do not end in death and many organizations that make a business of prize fights and evade the law by various pretexts.

SCHOOL FIRE TRAPS

In Washington recently one of the congressmen made the astonishing declaration that many of the school-houses which have been erected in America in recent years have not been adequately protected from fire. His statement would seem to be borne out by the many fatalities which have occurred recently in schools, sometimes in public schools but more generally in boarding schools and colleges.

If there is need for fire protection anywhere there is surely need for it in schools and public institutions. The young are easily subject to panic and in case of a conflagration they are almost always agitated to the point of being unruly, which makes their safety a difficult problem even if the provisions for their rescue are adequate. When, however, there is a scarcity of fire escapes, or such a plan of construction as would make their rescue difficult the effect is appalling and it is all too frequent. Many schools grow careless because of their supposed immunity from fire, but this is a matter where preventive measures are absolutely essential, and carelessness is most reprehensible.

The city authorities who have to do with the problem of public safety should see to it that among the first buildings to comply with the laws in this regard are all schools, whether public or private. It does not call for a very great expenditure, comparatively, and it ought to be considered as necessary to a school building as the roof that covers it or the instructors who teach there. It is a shame that even one human life should be sacrificed because of a sense of false security, and no one can tell when the conflagrations which have destroyed so many young lives in schools and colleges in the past, will visit even the safest, safest only apparently. Boarding schools and colleges should be supplied with sufficient fire escapes, and all schools indiscriminately should cultivate the habit of frequent fire drills.

REPUBLICAN REFORM

In calling for reform, some of the leading republicans of the country have said, and are still saying, things which are almost painful in their frankness—things which would have been instantly repudiated by republicans in general before the last national election, but which now reach the public without the protest of a dissenting voice. Among those frank statements may be included an extract from a recent speech of Robert Washburn before the Worcester county republican club, in which he spoke particularly of his railroad bill, but generally of the republican shortcomings and future outlook. The following sounds like a passage from "The new freedom" of President Wilson: "The republican party has got to have a party that is a party of the people and to do what it can for the common people. It must give more to labor and less to the rich. We have been through a cyclone and we are looking around to see how we can benefit by the experience."

It will be well indeed for the republican party if the special committee appointed in Washington to carry through reforms within the national republican organization, can look at things as frankly and courageously as Mr. Washburn, and act accordingly. It will avail nothing to change the method of representation at national conventions or to eliminate the other technical abuses if the party does not dissociate itself from its past and present reputation of catering to special interests. The time is ripe for reform and many within the party see the need for it. Future republican success will depend entirely on the degree to which the counsel of the frank members of the party is followed.

RECOGNITION OF MEXICO

The recent complaint of Provisional President Huerta to the American ambassador and the current rumor that many prominent Mexicans desire the return of the old despot, Diaz, emphasize the wisdom of President Wilson in withholding recognition of the present Mexican government. Apart from any sentimental considerations or memories of the methods by which Huerta rose to power, he has not succeeded in quelling revolution as news despatches tell of many recent uprisings, and it is evident that his rule, founded on treachery and murder, is already tottering. Since the tragic death of Madero, there has not been a general election and the refusal of President Wilson to recognize any government which is not based on the will of the people is as wise as it is American.

COMMON WALKS

The requested appropriation for the walks on the commons, backed by the letter of the park commissioners to the mayor, should not be delayed longer than is absolutely necessary to determine the extent of the proposed outlay. This is a case where a dollar spent now will mean the saving of many dollars later on, as the walks are in bad shape and grow worse daily. Before we begin to beautify we ought to attend to the essentials, and new walks on the commons are among the crying needs of the park department.

Frank ("Podger") Murphy says he will swim any man in the world from Lowell to Lawrence for all the money in the world.

As early morning serenaders the English sparrows are the limit.

Don't congratulate yourself prematurely because you have found a man who is willing to listen to your troubles. When you have relieved yourself he will want you to listen to his troubles.

When Nook and the boys got through giving all the animals in the ark their breakfast, it must have been pretty nearly dinner time.

RAPTURE

He held her hand, and pressed it oft, As lovers sometimes do, She made no protest, for she liked To have him come to woo.

He spoke with fervent eloquence About her beauty rare, And praised in turn her grace, her wit, Her eyes, her lips, her hair.

He said no other girl till then Had ever touched his heart, He vowed that she would be to him A sacred thing, apart.

From all the world, that she would hold Him always in her thrall, That no one was so sweet as she— And she believed it all!

It never hurts a rich girl to know all about house-work, or at least a rich girl seldom knows enough about housework to hurt them.

Time works wonders, but not in the way of keeping a man's hair as black as it was when he was young.

You must expect a man to look at you with suspicion when you have asked him to call you up by telephone.

FREE ADVICE TO SICK WOMEN

Thousands Have Been Helped By Common Sense Suggestions.

Women suffering from any form of female ills are invited to communicate promptly with the woman's private correspondence department of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have they published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good will, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

450 FITCHBURG CARPENTERS RETURN TO WORK

Four Hundred Went Out a Week Ago, Demanding More Pay—Satisfactory Agreement Reached Today

FITCHBURG, May 27.—All but 50 of the 450 carpenters who went on strike a week ago were at work today, demands for a minimum wage of $2.50 having been granted. Although the master builders refused to consider other concessions demanded when the strike was called, the men returned to work.

THE NINE HOUR BILL

For Trolley Men Was Arranged on Its Way to the Senate Yesterday—House Adopted an Order by Washburn

The Massachusetts house yesterday pulled back the 9 hours in 11 trolley men's bill just as it was getting ready to go over to the senate. The house then adopted an order offered by Washburn asking the attorney general for his opinion whether the bill as passed by the lower branch is mandatory on the railroads or permissive; that is, whether any employee may work for more than nine hours a day if he wishes to do so under the provisions of this act. It has been held that he cannot by both the opposition and the proponents.

The house turned down a bill urged by Rep. Nathan of Natick for a return to the old system of three months tickets on the railroads, but it substituted for an adverse report a bill to provide that all monthly tickets on railroads shall be good for 40 days.

The house refused to reject the bill to reorganize the state board of health as recommended by the committee on ways and means and voted to advance the bill which provides for a paid board of health of five members.

The big $5,000,000 river and harbor bill came into the senate from the house and was at once referred to the committee on ways and means of the upper branch which will give a hearing upon it.

Red Blood Resists Rheumatism

An attack of rheumatism does not guard the patient against a subsequent attack. On the contrary a person who has had rheumatism is more liable to be attacked than one who has not. The object, therefore, of medical treatment of the disease is to get the system into a condition in which it will resist the attack. Thin blood is a condition always present in rheumatism. Medical authorities agree that in no disease does the blood become thin with greater rapidity. On the other hand rich, red blood resists rheumatism. Build up the blood and the rheumatic poison will be driven out. The next wet, damp day will then have no terrors for you.

Summer Board in Colorado Very Moderate Charges

"I'd like to go to Colorado," said a man the other day. "But it costs so much to live there that I'm afraid I—." "Forget it," said his friend, who had spent a month last summer in the Wonder State. "I had the same idea myself last year until I got that folder the Burlington gets up, telling the hotel rates. And I was mightily surprised to find that, besides the hotels, there are hundreds of good, clean, wholesome ranch houses in Colorado, where the rates are as low as $5.00 a week, and the fare is mighty good."

That folder is published by the Burlington railroad to show folks how they can enjoy a vacation in Colorado at a very reasonable expense. And I'd like to mail you a copy of it—free. It tells all about the country, gives a complete list of hotels and boarding houses, addresses, rates, conveniences, elevation and nearby attractions. Let me send those and if you wish I can tell you all about the trains and cost of railway tickets to the most wonderfully charming country in America.

Mr. Crocker was for 26 years a member of the Boston Transit commission, the body which supervised the construction of all the city's subways and elevated structures. Previously he had been chairman of the state railroad commission. He served six terms in the legislature, four of which were in the senate. A widow and five children survive.

FELL 60 FT. TO GROUND

7-Year Old Girl is Dying From Injuries

BOSTON, May 27.—Childish joy gave way to horror on the rooftops of the West End late yesterday afternoon when 7-year-old Rose Corso, at the height of a game of tag, tumbled over the edge of the building at 7 Norman street and went crashing from window ledge to window ledge, 60 feet to the ground below. The little girl is dying at the Massachusetts General hospital.

FRANCOIS J. LEBLANC

Francois J. Leblanc, aged 41 years and 2 months, died today at St. John's hospital. Deceased was well known in this city, having lived here since his birth. He was a prominent merchant, and for the past few years conducted a market at 258 Mammoth road. Francois J. Leblanc was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leblanc when still a child. For years he managed his foster father's business in Belvidere, and when the latter retired deceased opened a grocery and meat market in Mammoth road and conducted the same until the time of his death. He was ill but two weeks. He is survived by a wife, two children, Blanche and Alfred, his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leblanc and a foster sister, Mrs. U. S. Richard of Woonsocket, R. I. He was a prominent member of the C. M. A. C. and of Rochambeau council, R. A. C. The body was removed to the home in Mammoth road.

FIRE 1200 FEET IN AIR

Aeroplane Ablaze—Occupants Land Safely

SALISBURY, Eng., May 27.—Volplaning from a height of 1200 feet in a blazing aeroplane, the British aviator, Colwyn Pizey, and a passenger, J. L. Fellows, reached the ground in safety last evening and stepped from the machine just as an explosion of the gasoline tank completely wrecked it. The aeroplane was in ray flight over the outskirts of the town when suddenly the carburetor took fire. Breaking the inlet valve, the aviator shut off the gasoline and started a steep volplane.

Iroquois Canoe Club Opened

The Iroquois Canoe club, composed of a popular group of young men of this city, who make their abode at Lake Umbagog during the summer months, have opened their camp for the season, and it is expected that some enjoyable affairs will be conducted at the summer club during the present season.

The formal opening of the house was held Friday night when the members conducted a Ladies' night and in spite of the inclement weather there was a large gathering of members and friends. During the evening the following musical program was given: Violin solo, Miss Bertha Knight; piano solos, Miss Mabel Knight and Miss Anna Murphy; recitation, "Only a Legit," John Gleason; song, Arthur Bolton; harmonica solo, Herve Cote; mandolin duet, Mr. Collins and Y. McKenzie; piccolo solo, John P. Sutherland; impersonation of Harry Lauder, John Grant, Jr.; trombone solo, Bert McKenzie. A pleasing feature of the entertainment was an address by Mr. Dennis F. Cronin on his travel through the old world. On his trip he visited France, England, Ireland and Scotland, and his story was illustrated by stereopticon views taken by Mr. Cronin himself. At the close of his remarks he was given a great hand. Mr. Cronin was followed by John F. Warren, who danced. After the entertainment, refreshments were served.

MEN'S SUITS

The new Summer styles. Our stock is ready for early buyers. And it's worth while to be an early buyer. Ten 1913 models have just arrived, all smart, all tasteful.

Coats are cut shorter; shoulders are not as broad as formerly; vests are higher; trousers are narrower.

The features that differentiate them from last year's Suits may not seem important as you read about them here. But they are details that represent the variations and modifications that divide the has-beens from the up-to-dates.

"Trifles," you say. But to the fastidious man trifles of style are vital.

Our Suits for Summer show the long strides that Rogers, Peet & Co. have made in the production of ready-to-wear clothing. With such qualities to choose from, it really isn't necessary for any man to pay the high tribute demanded by the custom tailor.

WEALTHY BOY BURGLAR

Salem Student Confesses to Break

BOSTON, May 27.—In a remarkable confession to the Newton police yesterday, Karl H. Sanborn, son of a wealthy Salem family and a student in an aristocratic school at West Newton, declared himself responsible for several burglaries in the Newtons and in Middleton.

Sanborn and John W. Meachen, a schoolmate, early yesterday morning were caught in the act of robbing the hardware store of E. W. Tomlinson on Washington street, West Newton. Armed with loaded revolvers and wearing black masks, they had entered the store by a back window and were preparing to leave with hundreds of dollars' worth of goods, when Patrolman Monaghan discovered the break and after a lively struggle succeeded in arresting them.

In his confession, Sanborn sought to absolve Meachen from the blame of the break. He said that he had led the Meachen youth astray, and was alone responsible for the deed. Sanborn told of other breaks in Newton. When confronted with stolen goods which had been found in his dormitory room, he admitted that he and another youth had robbed a store in Middleton.

SHOE TRIAL CONTINUES

BOSTON, May 27.—The government continued its inquiry into the acquisition of subsidiary companies by the United Shoe Machinery Co. when the trial of the suit for the dissolution of the company was resumed in the United States district court today.

Owing to the fact that District Judge Arthur L. Brown of Providence, R. I., who was especially assigned to the case with Circuit Judges Putnam and Dodge was required to sit in the district court in Providence today, the case was resumed by agreement of counsel with only two judges on the bench. The acquisition of the Morely Button Mfg. Co. of Portsmouth, N. H., was taken up. In addition to making buttons this company made named eyelets under patent. The United Shoe Machinery Co. was manufacturing enamel eyelets when it acquired the eyelet business of the Portsmouth concern in December, 1901, having previously acquired the eyelet business of J. C. Rhodes & Co. of New Bedford and the enamel eyelet company and the Boston Fast Color Eyelet Co., both of Boston. The United Shoe Machinery Co. now controls practically all of the eyelet business of the country.

The contracts and agreements by which the subsidiary companies were acquired were introduced as exhibits by the government and Nelson W. Howard, a patent attorney in the employ of the defendant explained the different machinery acquired.

By certain clauses in these contracts and agreements the vendors bound themselves not to engage in the business sold to the defendant during the life of the patents conveyed.

Michael Clunen was arraigned on a charge of drunkenness. Officer Simon Lane testified that he was called in by the man's wife, who complained that her husband had kicked her out into the street. The man will serve four months in the house of correction.

Mary Warren was in on a first offense but was in very bad shape from drink. She was given 10 days to rest up in the county jail.

Nicholas E. Burns, a fourth offender, was sent to the state farm. Thomas F. McCarthy was fined $5.

37 KILLED IN PIER DISASTER

Coroner and Dist. Atty. to Handle Long Beach Inquiry

Will Delve Into History of Pier, Which Was Built In 1905

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 27.—Coroner Calvin Hartwell and District Attorney John D. Fredericks, conferred yesterday with reference to handling the inquiry into the pier disaster Saturday at Long Beach, which cost 37 lives and it was decided that there would be no grand jury investigation. The coroner's jury, it was said, was vested with powers sufficient to cover the case, and had the right to obtain prosecutions for manslaughter if the evidence developed at the inquest which begins Thursday warrants such action. The coroner's jury will go into all phases of the disaster and will delve into the history of the municipal pier and the city auditorium, the construction of which was accompanied by charges of graft. The structures were completed in 1905 and 1906. J. B. Loser, a member of the city council at that time, and Mayor Eno were charged with having accepted bribes from the contractor. Loser was the only man brought to trial. The jury disagreed and without going to trial a second time Loser turned $1000 into the city treasury. No action was taken against the contractor, John Baird, and the structures as built were accepted.

FIGHT MEN IN FIRE PANIC

Police Save Women and Children

BOSTON, May 27.—Police of the Hanover street station were yesterday forced to fight men tenants of the apartment house at 390-394 Hanover street to save women and children from being trampled when fire broke out in a restaurant on the street floor of the building, due to the overturning of a kettle of fat. Thirty-two families, numbering nearly 200 persons, occupy the building. When the tenants heard the roar of the flames and found the halls filled with smoke, they rushed toward the stairways for safety, parents leaving small children behind in many apartments. Sergeant Donovan, aided by Patrolmen Sonnaman, Kelley, Chaisson and Horgan, were obliged to fight some of the men, who had lost their heads in the excitement of the moment, in order to turn the mad scramble for safety into an orderly evacuation of the building. Through the efforts of the police, the women and children were saved from being trampled and perhaps killed.

HUSBAND ASKS FOR DIVORCE

On Grounds of Cruel Treatment by His Wife

Says She Broke His Arm and Dragged Him by Logs

The jury waived session of the superior court was resumed at the court house in Gorham street this morning. At the opening of the session Judge Jennings announced his finding in the case of Carmody vs. Carmody, the amount of which was $1051.20 with costs for the claimant. The next case to be brought to the attention of the court was that of Fannie L. Weymouth vs. Daniel M. Weymouth, divorce proceedings. The case was not contested, but the libellant was called to the witness stand and in the course of her testimony she said she was married to Daniel M. Weymouth on Feb. 5, 1910, and lived with him until April 2, 1911, when she said she was forced to leave him on account of abusive treatment. A decree nisi for cruel and abusive treatment was granted and the libellant was granted the custody of her minor child.

A case which was the cause of considerable amusement on the part of the few spectators who were fortunate enough to understand the witness was that of William J. Bickertstaff, a farmer by occupation, who formerly lived on a farm in Billerica, but who for some time past has been making his home in Chelsea. Mr. Bickertstaff brought divorce proceedings against his wife on the grounds of abusive treatment.

The witness proved a very hard proposition, although he endeavored to make himself understood, but fate was against him for only recently he underwent a dental operation and had his teeth extracted. The witness was handicapped by the fact that the dental outfit was new to him and he did not seem to be able to articulate his words properly. The court stenographer appeared to him several times to speak plainer, and finally the attorneys and the court advised Mr. Bickertstaff to emphasize his words by making large cavity filled with dental machinery. The court stenographer then brought her chair nearer the witness and the testimony was resumed. Mr. Bickertstaff said he was married in 1895 and had four children. He told the court he formerly occupied a farm in Billerica, but some time ago he gave up the farming business and removed to Chelsea. He said he had been in Chelsea since the previous year, 1911, but since that date the last time was recalled.

In January, 1911, said witness, "the trouble started over religious matters. My wife attacked me on the arm with an iron stick and fractured the member. This happened in the kitchen in the presence of my four children. "Witness said he did not strike his wife, and also denied being a drinking man. He related an incident which occurred, he said, when he was in his field near a stone wall. His wife came alone, grabbed him by the legs, threw him to the ground, covered his face with dirt and struck him. He said she later got hold of him by the legs and dragged him to the house, the trip being a very unpleasant one.

On another occasion witness said he was in the house and asked his wife for his gold watch and chain. He instead of acceding to his demand, she hit him by the throat, struck his head against the floor several times. He said on this particular occasion he was unconscious for some time. In the course of his testimony Mr. Bickertstaff also stated his wife had him sent to the insane asylum in Worcester, where he remained for six months. He said during his stay in the institution his wife presented a petition to the probate court in order to take possession of his property, but the action did not amount to anything. He was released later, he said, through the efforts of his sister.

During the entire testimony, the wife, a tiny woman, weighing about 125 pounds, her head adorned with beautiful auburn hair, sat smilingly, watching the efforts of her husband, who had the time of his life trying to get his testimony in shape, sometimes using a note book to refresh his memory. She really did not appear to be the cruel character alleged by her husband.

Mrs. Bickertstaff Testifies

At the opening of the afternoon session Mrs. Bickertstaff was called to the witness stand and she made a general denial of her husband's accusations. She stated that Mr. Bickertstaff occasionally took temper, jumping over the furniture and running into the field, hiding behind trees. She said he always had a loaded revolver and threatened to shoot her. On one occasion she said he took the weapon and handed it to her asking her to shoot him. In the cross-examination she admitted bringing self-support proceedings against her husband in 1911, and she also stated that when she found her husband was drawing money from the bank, she placed an attachment on the bank account. Frederick Bickertstaff, son of the couple, aged 16 years, testified that up to last Saturday he was bookkeeper at the Lowell Y. M. C. A. He said prior to the commitment of his father the latter took occasional temper fits, cursing the mother and children. He said he never visited his father while the latter was in Worcester, and said once the father threw himself into a ditch and refused to come home.

COL. ROOSEVELT NEVER DRANK

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 27.—Theodore Roosevelt took the witness stand today in his libel suit against George A. Newett, who in an editorial charged him with drunkenness. The former president entered a denial. He admitted using light wines with his meals but never touched strong liquors except on advice of his physician or after great exposure. He said he did not smoke nor touch beer. After reviewing his career, Colonel Roosevelt testified under the questioning of his attorneys in substance as follows: "I have never drunk a cocktail or a highball in my life; with the exceptions noted I never drank whiskey or brandy except under the advice of a physician. I don't care for the taste of either. I don't smoke and I don't drink beer, because I dislike smoking and dislike the taste of beer. I never have drunk whiskey or brandy except when the doctor prescribed it or possibly on some occasions after great exposure when I was chilled through. But it has been certainly 15 or 20 years since I have drunk it because of being chilled. I never have drunk beer nor do I drink red wine.

"The only wines I have drunk have been white wines, Madeira, champagne or occasionally a glass of sherry. At home at dinner I will often drink a white wine or two of Madeira. In summer instead of the Madeira I will often drink a tall glass of champagne or perhaps two. I think on the average this means that I will drink champagne about once a month. The only exceptions to what I have stated about drinking whiskey and brandy are as follows:

"Mint juleps. I very rarely drink. At the White House we had a mint bed and I should think that on the average I may have drunk half a dozen mint juleps a year. Since I left the White House four years ago, to the best of my memory I have drunk mint juleps twice on one occasion at the Country Club at St. Louis, where I drank part of a glass of mint julep and on another occasion at a big luncheon given me at Little Rock, Ark., where they passed round the table a large cup, with the mint julep in it and I drank when the cup was passed to me. The only other occasions when I have drunk whiskey have been when it has been prescribed by the doctor. During the last 14 years I do not believe I have drunk whiskey straight or with water more than half a dozen times.

On the African trip the expedition took along a case of champagne, a case of whiskey, and one bottle of brandy. The bottle of brandy was taken for me because I don't drink whiskey. Some of the other members of the party drank whiskey. The champagne was used medicinally for three members of the party who were down with fever and dysentery and for two or three travelers, hunters and missionaries we met who were sick. I never touched either the whiskey or the champagne. Out of the brandy bottle I drank exactly seven ounces, this being given me by Dr. Mearns on two occasions when I had fever. The last time I told him I disliked it so that I did not think it did me any good and unless he objected I would take ten. Accordingly I took tea and turned the bottle and the rest of the brandy over to Mr. R. J. Cunningham, who was managing the expedition. Eight months later when we reached Khartoum he asked me what he should do with it, saying that from curiosity he had measured it and that I had drunk just seven ounces in eleven months. As for brandy I never drank it any more than I do whiskey when I am alone or at home or on a hunting trip or in a friend's house. But on very hard trips on the advice of Surgeon General Rice and on the recommendation of Dr. Holbrook, who attends to my throat on campaign trips, I have frequently just before going to bed at night drunk either one or two goblets of milk with a teaspoonful of brandy to the goblet. If there is more than the teaspoonful I dislike the taste and don't drink it. The brandy which was used in Africa was never in my own possession and I only took it when given to me by the doctor. I do not even carry a flask of brandy or whiskey with me. I used to carry it on my hunting trips, but found that I used it so rarely that it was a nuisance and might get broken and it has been some 20 years since I carried one. On my ranch we never had whiskey. I never made a practice of drinking at a bar and I don't believe I have ever drunk at a bar for 20 odd years. I do not believe I have been inside a saloon during that time. I do not drink between meals or except as above described.

DYE WORKS GETS PERMIT

To Store 280 Gallons of Gasoline

The municipal council held another short meeting this afternoon, the second meeting taking place in less than half an hour after the adjournment of the first meeting. The council reconvened at 2:15 o'clock and took up the petition of the Dillon Dye Works for the storage and use of gasoline at its plant in East Merrimack street. The dye works' representative said he had been in Boston and had talked with Deputy Chief Neal of the district police and he was awaiting instructions from that official. On motion of Commissioner Cummings it was voted to grant the permit with the understanding that the instructions of the district police shall be lived up to. The total number of gallons mentioned in the permit is 280 gallons and it will be stored in four separate tanks. There were no remonstrants to the petition.

Never Drink on Stump

"On campaign trips I drink nothing until, as said above, when I go to bed I take a goblet or perhaps two goblets of milk with a teaspoonful of brandy to the goblet, finding it rests my throat and makes me sleep well. On almost every campaign trip there will be some occasion on which I stop at a friend's house, when I will drink a glass of white wine or a glass of champagne. For example, in the Ohio campaign last year during the nine days I touched nothing whatever, on seven of the days excepting at night as above mentioned before going to bed not drinking a drop of any kind until I was undressed.

The other two days were the occasion when I spoke at Toledo and the occasion when I spoke at Cleveland. At Toledo, after the speech Mr. Garfield, Mr. Post and I went to the house of

Mr. and Mrs. Sperry, where we met Mayor and Mrs. Brand Whitlock and we went into the dining room to take a little supper. There was some champagne and I first took a glass of champagne and I then found that there was a pitcher of milk and doughnuts and I took the milk and doughnuts instead. On the afternoon of the day I went to Cleveland I stopped at Ravenna at the house of Mr. Hanna. There I had a pot of tea and, at dinner I believe, but am not certain, that I took a glass of champagne. After I returned to the car, in the evening having made various evening speeches I am often thirsty and take a bottle of spring water or Poland water with a glass of cracked ice, but I drink no liquor of any kind and never have drunk any liquor of any kind except as above described.

Jackson and F. C. Atherton. The court in handing down the decision had the following to say: "That the combination and association entered into by the defendants herein in or about the month of July, 1905, in relation to the manufacture, sale and shipment in interstate and foreign commerce of bicycle and motor cycle coaster brakes and each and all of the constitutional parts of the mechanism thereof constituted and is a combination in restraint of trade. Each and all of said defendants are hereby jointly and severally perpetually enjoined, restrained and forbidden from further engaging in or attempting to carry out in any respect the affairs and purposes of said combination and association."

CAMBRIDGE, May 27.—District Attorney Higgins refused today to recommend a pardon for James H. Friends of Horsfall claimed that the accident was unavoidable and that the sentence was excessive.

LOWELL COPS WIN GAME

Defeat Revere by Score of 17 to 3

In a game replete with ragged fielding by the visiting team the Lowell Police defeated Revere this morning at Spaulding park by the score of 17 to 3. To say that the game was played this morning is making a rather broad statement when the facts are taken into consideration, for it was found necessary to call the contest at the end of the seventh inning in order to allow the members of the visiting team to return to Revere in time to go out on their beats tonight. If the local team had been allowed to bat the remaining two innings there is some uncertainty as to whether the game would have been finished this afternoon. Mahoney was on the rubber for Lowell and the Revere team got all their runs in their half of the first inning. Mahoney steadied down after this session and the visitors did not have a chance with his delivery throughout the remainder of the game. Kenney caught his usual steady game behind the bat. The Lowell catcher is a big factor in every game in which the locals take part. Officer Drewett picked out a choice selection from the assortment which the Revere twirler passed out in the fifth inning and loomed against it for a home run clout over the left field fence. He also fielded his position in good style. Capt. Corners on first base played a clean fielding game and was also there with the club. In fact the entire Lowell team put up a brand of baseball that is rarely seen outside of organized baseball. Today's victory places the Lowell cops at the head of the league standing with three games won and none lost.

SIOUX FALLS, S. The woman then fired two shots into her own body and lies dying in a hospital. A quarrel between the two half an hour before the tragedy led up to the shooting. The woman left the following note: "Take care of my remains. Take care of us both—Mae." The story of a secret love affair was revealed by quantities of correspondence found in the woman's room by the police after the shooting. Dr. Moore had a wife and three children living at Brookings. Mrs. Allen and her husband separated several months ago.

COUNCIL DISCUSSED CITY'S DEBTS

Big Grist of Business Disposed of—A Lively Discussion on Disputed Street Bills for Last Year

The first regular forenoon meeting of the municipal council was held today at the old common council chamber at city hall today. The meeting was called for 11 o'clock, but, as usual, the council was late in convening. The forenoon meetings were suggested by the mayor and other members of the council expressed themselves as heartily in favor of the proposition, especially because it will allow the commissioners an unbroken afternoon in which to attend to other business connected with their departments, both at their offices and on the outside. Commissioners Barrett, Cummings and Donnelly have considerable outside business to attend to and hereafter, with the exception of an occasional hearing, they can attend to it in the afternoon, devoting the forenoon, if necessary, to office engagements.

Mayor O'Donnell called to order at 11:45 o'clock and Assistant City Clerk William McCarthy was sworn by the Council. Continued to page seven

WAS ON STRIKE DUTY

Inspector Moran Back Six Italian Women Arrested and Fined

Officer Edward Moran of the state police, who is a better inspector of this district, recently completed a week of strike duty at Hopedale and today in conversation with the writer, told of the activity of the state police in this strike. All of the members of the state police, including factory inspectors, building inspectors, under inspectors and detectives are required to go on duty at the same of the strike for a week at a time and during that time they are all acting in the capacity of detectives. Including the chief, there are 20 officers in the state police and Mr. Moran, who returned from Hopedale last week, was one of about twenty.

Mr. Moran said that during his period of detective service there was no trouble and that the chief duties of the men in the service were to keep the pickets, who are quite numerous and very energetic, from preventing them who desire to return to work from so doing. Activities of this kind were not tolerated and picketing was the chief source of the trouble. Mr. Moran added, however, that these pickets were quite peaceable when they were warned by one of the inspectors and they caused but little serious trouble.

Mr. J. J. Carey, who is factory inspector of this district and who with Mr. Moran has quarters in the Central building, has also spent a week on strike duty at Hopedale and Milford and at present the metropolitan police are in charge there.

Agents Arrive in Lowell
It appears that agents of the Draper company have been going about to the various cities throughout Massachusetts and elsewhere, conducting a campaign with the purpose of securing men to go to work at the plant in place of those who have left, and two or more of these agents have been operating in Lowell.

According to the stories of those who claim to know the effects of these agents in this city have not been entirely without success for the other day they had gathered at the depot in Middlesex street a group of about 25 men who when questioned, admitted that they were in charge of representatives of the Draper company and were going to work in the factory of the plant.

These agents have also advertised widely for men to go to work in their factory and their advertisements have appeared in practically all the papers in this part of the state.

Mr. Moran thinks that it is quite probable that all of the state police officers may have to spend another week on strike duty and it is not in the least an unpleasant task but is rather enjoyed by the officials.

WEALTHY BOY BURGLAR

Salem Student Confesses to Break

BOSTON, May 27.—In a remarkable confession to the Newton police yesterday, Karl B. Sanborn, son of a wealthy Salem family and a student in an aristocratic school at West Newton, declared himself responsible for several burglaries in the Newtons and in Middlesex.

Sanborn and John W. Meachen, a schoolmate, early yesterday morning were caught in the act of robbing the hardware store of E. W. Tomlinson on Washington street, West Newton.

Armed with loaded revolvers and wearing black masks, they had entered the store by a back window and were preparing to leave with hundreds of dollars' worth of goods, when Patrolman Monaghan discovered the break and after a lively struggle succeeded in arresting them.

In his confession, Sanborn sought to absolve Meachen from the blame of the break. He said that he had led the Meachen youth astray and was alone responsible for the break. Sanborn told of other breaks in Newton. When confronted with stolen goods which had been found in his dormitory room, he admitted that he and another youth had robbed a store in Middlesex.

Popular Club Held Lively Meeting Last Night at the Home of Their President on West Eleventh Street

When the residents of Centralville saw a group of young men rushing toward West Eleventh street about 7 o'clock last night they thought there was a fire in the vicinity, but after investigation they found that it was the members of the Crimson A. C. "hoofbeats" it to the home of their president where a lively meeting was held.

At 9 o'clock the meeting was called to order and after considerable discussion it was decided to build a cupola of renting one. The lively moments of the meeting came when they brought up the subject of a minstrel show. After considerable debating it was decided to leave the disbursement in the hands of Joseph Chouinard, Jr.

Friday afternoon the baseball club headed by Joseph McLean will journey to Roxbury where they will play a fast team from that city.

TWO TAILOR SHOP FIRES

Local Fire Department Kept on the Jump

There were two quite lively fires to occupy the fire department, one last evening and the other shortly after midnight. It is a strange coincidence that in both cases the fire was in a tailor shop.

The first blaze was one which caused damage to the amount of approximately $3000 in the small tailoring shop of Steve Urban at the corner of Gorham and Chambers street. The alarm was rung in from box 51 shortly after half past nine. Mr. Urban and a helper were working with some benzine which caught fire. There were a number of expensive suits and cloth in the place and these were destroyed. Fixtures and stock were lost and the building itself was saved only with great difficulty.

The other tailor shop damaged was that of A. Barbera, who is located in the Lilley building in Merrimack street. The blaze was extinguished before any great damage had been done but there was some loss by water. Rose Jordan Hartford, a milliner on the ground floor, said that her stock was damaged to some extent.

Sapphire Bearings Durable

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The customs court has decided that sapphire bearings for electrical motors are dutiable at 25 per cent. ad valorem as articles of sapphire or mineral substances within the meaning of the tariff act. The court overruled the contention of the General Electric Co. for ten per cent. duty as semi-precious stones, cut but not set.

J. F. SAUNDERS

Starts a Great Piano Contest on the Sale of Quaker Oats at Reduced Price

J. F. Saunders is never happy except when he is trying to make somebody else happy. There will soon be music in the air in the vicinity of J. F. Saunders' great market and provision store. Here is one of the latest stunts that John will pull off for the benefit of the young folks and it is a short and sweet story. It is a contest whereby some boy or girl in the city will get a beautiful piano absolutely free of cost by simply helping to get rid of 450 cases of Quaker Corn Flake, and this cereal is very popular and is certainly one of the best brands used as a breakfast food. There is a limit to the number of these packages at this special sale so that in a very short time some enterprising child will be the proud possessor of this beautiful upright piano. Quaker Oats is put up in packages and retailed for ten cents a package, but as a special inducement to advertise in this novel way Mr. Saunders has decided to let them go at six cents a package, four cents under the regular. So if a little boy or girl should happen to call at your house today or tomorrow now soliciting an order for a package of oats, don't refuse the little one as this is a big bargain for you. He or she is earnestly and honestly trying to be the happy winner of a piano. Quaker Oats will be the most talked of cereal, we expect, that ever was sold in the city. Mr. Saunders intends to make Gorham street the busiest in Lowell.

GOV. JOHNSON WRITES

Explains Why He Signed Anti-Alien Land Bill

ONE OF MOST DRASTIC LAWS ON SUBJECT EVER ENACTED

Asserts the Men Favoring Referendum on Measure are Idiots or are Bought —Letter to Labor Council Secretary

SAN JOSE, Cal., May 27.—In a letter received today by Walter J. Mathewson, secretary of the San Jose labor council, Governor Hiram Johnson declares the anti-alien law enacted recently is "one of the most drastic laws on the subject ever enacted at the California legislature and asserts that any man who claims to favor a measure which will signal a referendum against this law is either an idiot or is bought. 'Every other bill that has been before the legislature for the last eight years,' says the governor's letter, 'provided in one fashion or another, for leasing and the only two bills that were seriously discussed during Mr. Bryan's stay here provided not only for leasing of land but for the right to purchase and hold for a limited period as well.'"

Commenting on labor opposition to the alien land law because it was regarded as less drastic than desired, the governor says: "I have been shocked and horrified at the attitude of some of the labor people of San Francisco, but I am proud to say that those labor leaders whom we respect have taken the same position that our people in Santa Clara county have taken. We have done the big thing in this alien land legislation. We have gone ahead and legislated on a subject that it was our legal and moral right to legislate upon."

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT

Case of Gair vs. Gair Came to a Close in the Civil Session of the Superior Court

The case of Gair vs. Gair, an action of tort, which was started in the civil session of the superior court yesterday morning, came to a close this morning. Judge Pratt delivered his charge to the jury, and a short time later a verdict was rendered for the defendant.

Four cases were settled out of court, and the jury drawn yesterday to take a view of a certain tract of land in Wilmington, made its report. The court then adjourned until after the noon recess.

At the opening of the session this afternoon, the list broke down. There was one case ready but it was scheduled to go on trial tomorrow morning and consequently the session was early adjourned till tomorrow morning.

"You and I have enjoyed many a dance together, but it is only fair to the Casino proprietors to say that we have had more genuine pleasure on Casino hill than anywhere else. So spoke a young woman the other night as she left with her escort, at the close of an evening's dancing. Such evidence of appreciation makes it worth while for the proprietors to conduct a high class resort.

County Commissioners Met

The county commissioners held a meeting in East Cambridge this morning and the only matter of importance to Lowell taken up was the extension of the Lawrence road from the Dracut line through Indian orchard to the Centralville bridge.

Mr. Robert Starnes brought up the question of how much the county would do toward this, and it was decided to refer the matter to counsel as to its rights in this matter.

A telephone is to be installed at the registry of deeds office for the convenience of lawyers who are obliged to use a telephone while at that place.

BURKES HAVE GOOD TEAM

Will Play South Ends on Friday

The Burkes and South Ends are putting in considerable practice work for their ball game, which is scheduled to be played at Spaulding park next Friday afternoon in connection with the carnival and field day of the Lowell A. C. Both teams will use their strongest lineups and the contest should prove a very interesting and exciting one. Manager Coughlin of the Burkes feels that the success of his team against the Progressive club team on last Saturday demonstrates that he has corralled the best team that has ever represented the society and one of the most formidable that has played semi-professional ball here in many days. The South Ends, too, boast of a strong team and aver that they will put a dent in the Burkes' reputation. Following the game a series of field events with some of the best performers in this city and vicinity, participating will be run off.

The game will be preceded by three boxing exhibitions. In the big number, Joe Fagan of Boston will show against Johnny Dehan of New York. These two clever boys will entertain for twelve rounds and their number should be an enjoyable one. In the semi-final exhibition Joe Morgan of Manchester and Gus Lenning of Boston will appear. These, too, are fifty performers and their offering is bound to be a hummer. In the preliminary Gardner Brooks of Lowell will exchange greetings with Jerry Luntz of the Hub. Joe Thomas will officiate a third man.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

A live young team of twelve-year-old lads who have recently stepped into the line fight on the amateur baseball stage are the Riverside Grays who on Saturday last humiliated the Young Textiles who were considered to be quite a strong outfit. The Riverside Grays have just got new baseball uniforms and are as well organized a junior club as will be found anywhere in the city. It is now that some of those hot air artists who have been sending challenges in all directions to keep out and keep quiet. The Riverside Grays challenge any 12-year-old aggregation in the city or vicinity. Send replies to Francis Gillick, 173 Riverside street.

J. Knox, manager of the Cubs, said yesterday that although the baseball season is still young, nevertheless there are already numerous teams claiming the amateur championship of the city. "These teams are away off if they think they have anything on us and if any of them still think they are champions, why don't they show their faces instead of merely having their names in the paper? We have a better claim to the championship than any of them," and as he spoke, Mr. Knox had a look of determination on his countenance that bode ill for any hot air teams that cross his path. Write to him at North Chelmsford if you have the courage to play the Cubs.

BURKETT'S BUSTERS WON

Lowell Lost an Exciting Game at Worcester

Lowell lost a hard fought game yesterday when Jesse Burkett's outfit defeated them by the score of 4 to 3. Zeller and Daly were the battery for the Lowell team, while Wolf and McCune delivered and received for Worcester.

Lowell lost a golden opportunity to score the tying run in the ninth inning, but slipped up when Monahan failed to touch third base, and, after going back to tag the bag, was thrown out at the plate. McCune made a great play when he blocked Monahan off the plate, the Lowell catcher having ample opportunity to touch home plate but being blocked off by the Worcester catcher.

The contest contained some good hitting features but the pitching on both sides was rather characteristic of an inferior outfit. There were but five strikeouts in the entire game. When a good opportunity presented itself in one of two of the innings, the Lowell outfit appeared to be asleep and failed to live up to the several favorable circumstances in the fourth and fifth innings. Clemens swung the willow to good advantage, connecting for three safe ones, one of them a two banger, out of five times at bat. The visitors got away with several stolen bases when Daly's whip did not show up as well as it might have. The score:

JOE DAWSON TO DRIVE

Annual Auto Race at Indianapolis Friday

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 27.—Joe Dawson, the driver who won the 500-mile sweepstakes race here last year, probably will drive a machine in the third annual automobile race on Memorial day, it was announced last night. The contest board of the American Auto association last night refused to license the favor of one of the cars to drive in the race on the ground that he lacked experience. Dawson, it was said, would steer his machine.

The elimination trials will start this morning and continue until 5 p. m. Thursday night. Each car must do 15 miles an hour and come within certain technical requirements in various dimensions.

Referee A. R. Pardington of New York, who will have charge of the race, arrived last night and will direct the preliminary contests. Tonight the drivers will be instructed in the rules governing the event.

Bedient Pitched Good Game
The world's champions won from New York yesterday, mainly through the great pitching of Bedient, and the all around playing of Speaker. Bedient allowed the Yankees only four hits.

Boston scored two runs in the fourth inning on hits by Yerkes and Speaker, a stolen base by Speaker, Derriek's fumble of Henkle's drive, and Javrin's sacrifice fly, after New York had scored one in the first. Hartzel's error on Henkle's grounder and Engle's triple scored another run for Boston in the ninth. The score by innings:

Y. M. C. A. Athletic Meet

The entries for the various events in the Y. M. C. A. athletic meet on May 30 will close tonight at 10 o'clock and all prospective competitors are requested to register before that time. The program will go to press tomorrow.

As yet no one has been secured to compete against the Y. M. C. A. relay team in a mile relay race. Where are those ex-high school track stars? Here is a good chance for a little practice as well as for some clean sport.

Trials for the relay team will be held today at the Y. M. C. A. gym.

MRS. BRIER DIES AT 99

Was Member of Famous Jayhawker Party

STOCKTON, Cal., May 27.—Mrs. Julia Brier, a member of the famous Jayhawker party of 35 persons who left Galesburg, Ill., April 5, 1845, to make their way across the plains to the gold fields of California died last night in Lodge, aged 99 years. Her son, Rev. W. Brier of Lodge, and another person are now the only survivors of that party.

Enroute to the gold fields the party were 52 days, practically without food and of the entire party three succumbed to hunger, thirst and fatigue and one went insane from starvation, wandering off in the night. He was taken prisoner by Diggar Indians, from whom he was rescued 15 years later by a United States surveying party.

FOSS REFUSES DEMANDS

Turns Down Request for Wage Increase

BOSTON, May 27.—Governor Foss yesterday refused the demands of the employees of the B. F. Sturtevant company, of which he is the treasurer, in which they have asked for a 20 per cent increase in wages.

This action may precipitate a strike. The men have already threatened to take action unless some concession was made. The governor in a statement issued last night made no reference to any further hope of arbitration in the matter.

Governor Foss is also president of the Becker Milling Machine company of Hyde Park and the Meade-Morrison Manufacturing company of Cambridge. The international officers of the metal trades unions have announced that a strike in any one of these plants would be followed by a general strike. This strike would extend to all three plants, involving more than 1500 men.

In his statement Governor Foss says: "If the Sturtevant company's operations insist upon an increase at this time, then the company will be loath to fill their places by imported labor, the only other expedient being that the works must be closed."

The governor says that to increase the wages in compliance with the demands would mean that the plant would have to be operated at a loss.

"The request of the men comes at an inopportune time, when the industries of the country are seeking to adjust themselves to the impending changes in the tariff policy of the national government," says the governor.

POLLARD CO.'S SALE

Great Rush at the Silk Sale Today

This annual sale at the Pollard Co.'s store comes around as regularly as Decoration day, and certainly makes a wonderful sight for anyone to witness. This sale is conducted on the first floor of the Palmer street building, and talk about sights! It is one of the great ones to be seen. The Pollard Co. make this their great red letter day in merchandise, giving this particular department the great feature show.

They have always brought out when this sale is announced, people from the suburbs and from every section of the city. Announcements have been sent out by postal, and it looks as if everybody responded from district points, from Rhode Island, New Hampshire, and other points. When a person considers the enormous amount of 30,000 yards of this beautiful Foulard silk, the regular price of which is $1.00 and $1.25, and the sale price 39c, is it any wonder that more than a thousand ladies were anxiously waiting to get inside, that they might get the preference, for attendance and numbers, all records. A number of police officers were in attendance to help maintain order and to keep people distributed so that no one would be injured in the crush. The best of it all, they were buyers. One of the great novelties of this special sale was to see the merchant prince himself as busy as any clerk on the floor selling goods. This is not an every day occurrence, and not one of the head of the firm we said that he can wield the yard stick as he did long years ago. These silks are from the products of the best silk mills in the country and Mr. Pollard has the exclusive control of these remnants, and, naturally, he has no competitor in this particular kind of merchandise. The sale usually lasts two or three days but we doubt very much, judging from today's crowd, that the sale can last more than a day before the 30,000 yards will be carried away by bargain hunters. It certainly is the most attractive sale that takes place in our city, when the women get such great bargains in silk. We would advise every lady who wants anything in this line to see the bargains before they are all disposed of.

ANNUAL FIELD DAY OF THE HIGH SCHOOL REGIMENT A GREAT SUCCESS—CO. F WON FIRST PRIZE—PRIVATE CAHILL GOLD MEDAL

EXHIBITING IN WALL SCALING

PRIV. STURGES
Silver Medal

PRIV. CAHILL
Gold Medal

A crowd of 9000 enthusiasts were assembled at Spradling park yesterday afternoon when the High School regiment, in full dress regalia, marched on to the grandstand, while the 6th regiment band, which led the line, played Dixie. The regiment marched into the enclosure at 2:15 o'clock and circled the field once before stacking arms at the northwest corner of the park. As the regiment, with Col. Wilkins and his staff at its head, passed the grandstand on their circuit of the field the spectators were greeted by a very striking picture. Two large American flags, carried by the color sergeants of the battalions, the company pennants waving from the gun barrel of each sergeant and the military precision with which each revolution was executed brought forth a storm of thunderous applause from the crowded stands.

Order Slightly Changed

The order of events was slightly changed. With the entire regiment drawn up along the line, from first to third base the second battalion of girls on the command of Major McMahon took the field exercise of the day, the wand drill. With the battalion officers acting as guards at each corner and along the sides, a sixty foot square was first formed, the girls marching to the strains of the march played by Hibbard's orchestra with the two girl pianists, Misses Ruth Mower and Ethel Thompson. The battalion next broke into fours and after criss-crossing the boys marched to the arena for their exhibition in Butt's manual. This manual is a series of exercises which the privates and non-commissioned officers go through with their rifles led by their officers with their swords. This exhibition was in charge of Lieutenant-Colonel Wilson.

No sooner had the first battalion left the foreground of the park than the second battalion, Major Goldman in command, took the field and to the rhythm of the drum corps gave an exhibition of the "setting up" exercises in which they had been drilled during the year.

Caps were laid aside and coats were unbuttoned while the schoolboy soldiers went through the strenuous exercises which no to make the program as practised at the high school. The work of the battalion was very uniform and showed close application to the instruction which has been given them by Military Instructor Dorie.

Individual Drill

Eighteen boys marched on to the field in single file when the call for the individual drill for the gold and silver medals was issued. The squad was commanded by Major Goldman. Each boy wore a number on the front of his uniform by which the judges identified attached, making each movement of the clubs a very pretty picture. Major Mary Sherburne was in charge of the Indian club drill and both she and her command acquitted themselves to the great satisfaction of the crowded stands. Round after round of applause rang forth as Major Sherburne stepped down from the platform. The presentation of bouquets to the first battalion was an even greater ceremony than that which followed the wand drill by the second.

The exhibition given by both battalions of girls reflected the highest praise upon the work of Miss Margaret

Teague, the instructor in calisthenics at the high school.

When Mayor O'Donnell stepped out on the field, accompanied by Principal Connelley to page seven

CAPTAIN FOSTER OF CO. G.
Which Won Second Prize

CAPTAIN VIGEANT OF CO. F.
Which Won First Prize

CAPTAIN HARMON OF CO. H.
Which Won Sword for Best Appearance

Teague, the instructor in calisthenics at the high school.

The drill for company honors was the next event on the field day program. Company F, Captain William Sydenham in command, was the first of the three companies that lived through Friday's elimination contest, to appear for the judges' inspection. As Company F trotted off the right hand side of the drill grounds Company G, with Captain Eastwell H. Foster in command, marched into position from the left side. Company H, commonly called the "Brownies," was the last of the three chosen companies to appear and led by Captain Napoleon J. Vigeant, gave a very precise conception of military tactics. It could be plainly seen even by uninitiated spectators that the last named company, which is composed of the smallest boys in the school, were far in advance of their larger opponents when it came to knowledge of military maneuvers. Directly following the company, compe-

Measures Alfred and John Landry, both of Salem, were Sunday the guests of their sister, Mrs. O. J. David of Ludlum street, having made the trip to Lowell in an automobile.

UNIFORM FACTORY LAWS CAUCUSES OF 3 PARTIES

Phila. Manufacturers to All Will Discuss Com-
Launch Campaign mittee Assignments

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—Philadelphia textile manufacturers at a largely attended meeting here last night agreed to launch a campaign for uniform factory laws in all the big industrial states and determined to invite the national child labor committee and the Consumers League to co-operate with them. The association adopted a resolution urging the Pennsylvania legislature to provide for the appointment of a commission to investigate the conditions relating to the employment of women and minors to a certain extent of occupational diseases to which they are liable, report the best means for the prevention of such diseases and to confer with similar commissions from other important states with a view to agreeing upon a program of uniform legislation.

CUT IN TELEPHONE RATES

Provided For in Ordinance in Chicago

CHICAGO, May 27.—A reduction of $500,000 a year in telephone rates is provided for in an ordinance, passed early today by the common council. A large majority of the subscribers are effected by the cut in rates which ends a three years' fight.

The ordinance calls upon the telephone company for an annual contribution of $100,000 to the pension and disability fund for employees and it devotes $125,000 of the surplus established by the council's expert investigator to granting increases in wages.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—All three parties in the house will have caucuses or conferences on committee assignments within a fortnight at least.

The progressives will begin to make up the list of 35 representatives who have recognition on various committees during this congress. The democrats have authorized a call for caucus on Monday, June 3, to pass upon the committee personnel as framed by the ways and means committee majority as the committee on committees. The republican committee list to be submitted to Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee is almost ready and if a sufficient number of republicans are in the city this week, Mr. Mann, the republican leader, will call a caucus though caucus approval of his list is not essential.

BRYAN GOES MARKETING

Secretary of State Visits Market Place Daily

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Secretary Bryan is not too busily engaged with the affairs of state to do the marketing for the Bryan household. Almost any morning the secretary of state may be seen in a local market place with a large basket swinging from his left arm. Col. Bryan seems to enjoy marketing to the full. He elbows the crowd and apparently does not mind it any more than he did when making his political campaign tours. Secretary Bryan's fondness for the radish of the white variety is now generally known among market men and they try to keep on hand the kind he likes. The other day, however, much to colonel's disappointment, his favorite vegetable was not to be had. "You know, I'm just crazy about white radishes," said the secretary to a woman shopping beside him. "No other kind will do." And he continued his search among the stands.

THE BACHELOR GIRLS

Will Hold Meeting Tonight and Hear Report of Recent Party—Will Elect Officers for Summer Dance

An important meeting of the Bachelor Girls will be held tonight and it is expected that all the girls will be present. A general report will be heard from their recent musical song revue and will no doubt be an interesting and encouraging one as the girls feel that their entertainment was successful in every way. They will also make complete arrangements for their annual summer dancing party which will take place at Lakeview on Friday evening, June 27th, with Miner's orchestra in attendance. Election of officers for this coming event in itself will be interesting, as there are many candidates for that coveted position, floor marshal. Other important business relative to the girls club will come up at this meeting and will be acted upon. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock.

TURKEY-BALKAN TREATY

London Trying to Solve Deadlock

LONDON, May 27.—A plan is under discussion here for solving the deadlock in regard to the signature of the peace treaty between Turkey and the Balkan states. The European powers recommend to those states which are ready to do so to sign Sir Edward Grey's draft treaty without waiting for their allies. It is pointed out that Bulgaria could thus conclude terms with Turkey and the European powers could then devote their attention to inducing the recalcitrant states to sign. Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, received the peace delegates separately today and urged them to sign the draft treaty, but the Greek delegates replied that they must refer the question to their government at Athens.

ARBITRATION IS URGED

Attitude of Northern Baptist Church Set Forth

DETROIT, Mich., May 27.—The attitude of the northern Baptist church in matters relating to labor, the home and family, and social service was set forth in the report of the social service commission read last night by Rev. Samuel Zane Batten before the convention now in session here. The commission presented a declaration of principles which are to be adopted by the church as its platform in dealing with these subjects.

The principal planks are: Right of both laborer and employer to organize is recognized. Adequate means of conciliation and arbitration urged. Release from employment one day in seven demanded. A living wage as a minimum in every industry and the highest wages that each industry can afford. Gradual and reasonable reduction in hours of labor to the lowest practical point. Suitable provision for workers in old age and for those incapacitated by injury. For the protection of the family by the single standard of purity uniform divorce laws, proper regulation of marriage and proper housing. The abolition of child labor. For such regulations of the conditions of toll for women as shall safeguard the physical and moral health of the community. For the protection of the individual and social, economic and moral waste of the liquor traffic. Theological seminaries to have courses in social service that shall train pastors and workers for church leadership in community betterment. Merrimack Square Theatre

In a manner that won the sincere and hearty commendation of a discriminating audience Miss Grace Young and her clever company presented that dramatic drama, "The White Sister," at the Merrimack Square theatre yesterday. The piece requires no word of praise on our part for its strength and beauty are well known. It is one that has been a favorite of Miss Viola Allen, and the same in which that renowned actress scored so remarkably a success. Miss Young, whose ability is rated very high by the theatre-going public of Lowell and elsewhere, gave an excellent interpretation of the part of "Giovanna," a Dominican nun, and once more impressed upon her audience, which, by the way, was large, the fact that she is in her acting far above the ordinary and far above what would be expected of the usual summer stock company. Many firmly believe that she has before her a career of distinction in theatrical circles.

A soldier and his sweetheart figure as the principal characters in this piece. The soldier is summoned to war and the report reaches his lover that he is dead. Broken hearted, the girl enters a convent to begin the life of a nun and the complications arise when the soldier returns alive to show that the reports of his death are false. To

Mr. Walter Scott Weeks is seen in the part of "Captain Giovanni Silver," the young soldier, son of above, and his work won applause for him from the audience. As "Monsignor Bernardino," the Howard Jones is seen to advantage. The other characters are very well interpreted and the stage settings and other features of the production were excellent.

There are some first rate photo-plays to amuse the audience between the acts of the play and they are always a pleasing feature.

REDFIELD'S INVESTIGATION

Possibly no feature of the tariff fight has aroused a greater degree of interest and resultant criticism than the declaration of Secretary Redfield that the government intends to look into the affairs of any concern which may reduce wages after the passing of the tariff bill, to determine if such a reduction was forced on the manufacturer, or was due to political subterfuge. Those who oppose the administration on general principles, and the tariff in particular, look upon the governmental plans as unwarranted presumption and blame the administration for thus daring to step into the private affairs of any individual.

While it is not at all probable that the government will be called upon to avail itself of its undoubted but little used prerogative, it is not certain that its declaration is blame-worthy. Its action is surely not so reprehensible as that of the individual who would strive to embarrass the government by juggling his private interests, only while his interference in national affairs is dishonest, the government investigation which would get to the root of it is at least honest and in a just cause. If a man forgets his duty to society so far as to bring suffering on others to discredit those who are at the head of affairs, he richly deserves any investigation which may result, although the punishment may be but the publicity which would ensue. Publicity, however, is oftentimes the most severe punishment in the case of the manufacturer.

Those who ascribe the declaration of the secretary of commerce and labor to a desire to get right with the workingman must remember that the government would "get right" with all parties far more easily by such a spirit of compromise as would hold on to the externals of democratic principles while at the same time meeting the special interests half way. Such, however, has not been their rule of action, and there is no declaration of the president or party leaders on which the charge of insincerity can be based. Those who criticize the announcement of Secretary Redfield adversely ought to remember that those whom such an investigation would hurt are those who deserve to be hurt.

COMMERCIALIZED BRUTALITY

The tragic death of Luther McCarthy will very probably give a renewed impetus to the growing movement to prevent prize fights as they are generally conducted in this country. Such exhibitions are now prohibited in many states and there is a tendency manifested to make this prohibition general. While pugilism in itself is heinous, generally condemned, the public dislike does not extend to boxing as a sport—the type of boxing which has long been called "the manly art."

This "manly art" has departed a great deal from the type of boxing which gave it its name. Physical superiority is no longer the main issue; the purse is the chief consideration. Those who went to see the bout in which McCarthy, the dead "white hope," lost his life, like those who went to see the Johnson-Jeffries fight and all the other recent fights of any importance, expected to see a victory won by the roughest methods and the deadliest blows. There may be art and science, indeed, but no art or science can prevent the stopping of the heart or the dislocation of the neck by a violent blow. It did not in the case of McCarthy, who was physically superior apparently to the average pugilist.

It is too bad that our advanced civilization has left us a large portion of the public who still countenance and encourage such spectacles of ferocious brutality as the average modern prize fight. To them the usual standards of life and death seem to be set aside. They do not see anything very tragic in the death of the unfortunate boxer and no doubt he is blamed for falling down so easily. On top of the death announcement we read that his opponent—Peky—is going south "as soon as the affair is settled" to fight "Gunboat Smith." Can anything more utterly heartless or more absolutely brutal be conceived? How long can it continue in this civilized land? There are many cases of extreme brutality in the prize ring that do not end in death and many organizations that make a business of prize fights and evade the law by various pretexts.

SCHOOL FIRE TRAPS

In Washington recently one of the congressmen made the astonishing declaration that many of the school-houses which have been erected in America in recent years have not been adequately protected from fire. His statement would seem to be borne out by the many fatalities which have occurred recently in schools, sometimes in public schools but more generally in boarding schools and colleges.

If there is need for fire protection anywhere there is surely need for it in schools and public institutions. The young are easily subject to panic and in case of a conflagration they are almost always agitated to the point of being unruly, which makes their safety a difficult problem even if the provisions for their rescue are adequate. When, however, there is a scarcity of fire escapes, or such a plan of construction as would make their rescue difficult the effect is appalling and it is all too frequent. Many schools grow careless because of their supposed immunity from fire, but this is a matter where preventive measures are absolutely essential, and carelessness is most reprehensible.

The city authorities who have to do with the problem of public safety should see to it that among the first buildings to comply with the laws in this regard are all schools, whether public or private. It does not call for a very great expenditure, comparatively, and it ought to be considered as necessary to a school building as the roof that covers it or the instructors who teach there. It is a shame that even one human life should be sacrificed because of a sense of false security, and no one can tell when the conflagrations which have destroyed so many young lives in schools and colleges in the past, will visit even the safest—safest only apparently. Boarding schools and colleges should be supplied with sufficient fire escapes, and all schools indiscriminately should cultivate the habit of frequent fire drills.

REPUBLICAN REFORM

In calling for reform, some of the leading republicans of the country have said, and are still saying, things which are almost painful in their frankness—things which would have been instantly repudiated by republicans in general before the last national election, but which now reach the public without the protest of a dissenting voice. Among those frank statements may be included an extract from a recent speech of Robert Washburn before the Worcester county republican club, in which he spoke particularly of his railroad bill, but generally of the republican shortcomings and future outlook. The following sounds like a passage from "The new freedom" of President Wilson: "The republican party has got to have a party that is a party of the people and to do what it can for the common people. It must give more to labor and less to the rich. We have been through a cyclone and we are looking around to see how we can benefit by the experience."

It will be well indeed for the republican party if the special committee appointed in Washington to carry through reforms within the national republican organization, can look at things as frankly and courageously as Mr. Washburn, and act accordingly. It will avail nothing to change the method of representation at national conventions or to eliminate the other technical abuses if the party does not dissociate itself from its past and present reputation of catering to special interests. The time is ripe for reform and many within the party see the need for it. Future republican success will depend entirely on the degree to which the counsel of the frank members of the party is followed.

RECOGNITION OF MEXICO

The recent complaint of Provisional President Huerta to the American ambassador and the current rumor that many prominent Mexicans desire the return of the old despot, Diaz, emphasize the wisdom of President Wilson in withholding recognition of the present Mexican government. Apart from any sentimental considerations or memories of the methods by which Huerta rose to power, he has not succeeded in quelling revolution as news despatches tell of many recent uprisings, and it is evident that his rule, founded on treachery and murder, is already tottering. Since the tragic death of Madero, there has not been a general election and the refusal of President Wilson to recognize any government which is not based on the will of the people is as wise as it is American.

COMMON WALKS

The requested appropriation for the walks on the commons, backed by the letter of the park commissioners to the mayor, should not be delayed longer than is absolutely necessary to determine the extent of the proposed outlay. This is a case where a dollar spent now will mean the saving of many dollars later on, as the walks are in bad shape and grow worse daily. Before we begin to beautify we ought to attend to the essentials, and new walks on the commons are among the crying needs of the park department.

THE NINE HOUR BILL

For Trolley Men Was Arrested on Its Way to the Senate Yesterday—House Adopted an Order by Washburn

The Massachusetts house yesterday pulled back the nine hour bill trolley men just as it was getting ready to go over to the senate. The house then adopted an order offered by Washburn asking the attorney general for his opinion whether the bill as passed by the lower branch is mandatory on the railroads, or permissive; that is, whether any employer may work for more than nine hours a day if he wishes to do so under the provisions of this act. It has been held that he cannot by both the opposition and the proponents.

The house turned down a bill urged by Rep. Nathan of Natick for a return to the old system of three months tickets on the railroads, but it substituted for an adverse report a bill to provide that all monthly tickets on railroads shall be good for 40 days.

The house refused to reject the bill to reorganize the state board of health as recommended by the committee on ways and means and voted to advance the bill which provides for a paid board of health of five members.

The big $5,000,000 river and harbor bill came into the senate from the house and was at once referred to the committee on ways and means of the upper branch which will give a hearing upon it.

Red Blood Resists Rheumatism

An attack of rheumatism does not guard the patient against a subsequent attack. On the contrary a person who has had rheumatism is more liable to be attacked than one who has not. The object, therefore, of medical treatment of the disease is to get the system into a condition in which it will resist the attacks. Thin blood is a condition always present in rheumatism. Medical authorities agree that in no disease does the blood become thin with greater rapidity. On the other hand rich, red blood resists rheumatism. Build up the blood and the rheumatism cannot be driven out. The next wet, damp day will then have no terrors for you.

Summer Board in Colorado Very Moderate Charges

"I'd like to go to Colorado," said a man the other day, "but it costs so much to live there that I'm afraid I—'Forget it,' said his friend, who had spent a month last summer in the wonder state. 'I had the same idea myself last year until I got that folder the Burlington sent up telling the hotel rates. And I was mightily surprised, and that, besides the hotels, there are hundreds of good, cleanly, wholesome ranch houses in Colorado, where the rates are as low as $3.00 a week, and the fare is mighty good.' That folder is published by the Burlington railroad to show folks how they can enjoy a vacation in Colorado at a very reasonable expense. And I'd like to mail you a copy of it—free. It tells all about the country, gives a complete list of hotels and boarding houses, addresses, rates, conveniences, elevation and nearby attractions. ## FIRE 1200 FEET IN AIR

SALISBURY, ENG., May 27.—Volplaning from a height of 1200 feet in a blazing aeroplane, the British aviator, Colwyn Pizey, and a passenger, H. Fellows, reached the ground in safety last evening and stepped from the machine just as an explosion of the gasoline tank completely wrecked it. The aeroplane was in easy flight over the outskirts of the town when suddenly the carburetor took fire. Breaking the inlet valve, the aviator shut off the gasoline and started a steep volplane.

Irroquois Canoe Club Opened

The Irroquois Canoe club, composed of a popular group of young men of this city, who make their abode at Lake Mascoupee during the summer months, have opened their camp for the season, and it is expected that some enjoyable affairs will be conducted at the summer club during the present season.

The formal opening of the house was held Friday night when the members conducted a Ladies' night and in spite of the inclement weather there was a large gathering of members and friends. During the evening the following musical program was given: Violin solo, Miss Bertha Knight; piano solos, Miss Mabel Knight and Miss Anna Murphy; recitation, "Only a Legit," John Gleason; song, Arthur Bolton; harmonica solo, Harve Carter; mandolin duet, Mr. Colman and Y. McKenzie; piccolo solo, John P. Sutherland; impersonation of Harry Lauder, John Grant, Jr.; trombone solo, Bert McKenzie.

A pleasing feature of the entertainment was an address by Mr. Dennis F. Cronin on his travel through the old world. On his trip he visited France, England, Ireland and Scotland, and his story was illustrated by stereopticon views taken by Mr. Cronin himself. At the close of his remarks he was given a great hand. Mr. Cronin was followed by John F. Marren, who danced. After the entertainment, refreshments were served.

Attorneys Clash Over Admission
as Evidence of Telephone
Record of Call

BOSTON, May 27.—When the trial of President William M. Wood of the American Woolen Co. opened today counsel for the defense and prosecution were prepared to engage in vigorous arguments over the admission as evidence of an important telephone record of a "call."

Through this record, regarding the admission of the court reserved decision yesterday, the state hoped to prove that William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Co. and Frederick E. Atteaux, a dye manufacturer, held a telephone conversation on Jan.
18, 1912, about the time that the two men are alleged to have conspired with Dennis J. Collins, John J. Breen and Ernest W. Pittman to "plant" dynamite in Lawrence for the purpose of giving the impression that the striking textile workers contemplated violence to enforce their demands upon the woolen company.

Wood's Counsel Objected
Counsel for Wood objected to the admission of the record on the ground that the switchboard operator had no positive knowledge of the identity of the persons speaking from the company's office or of the person at the other end of the wire. Counsel insisted that the operator might be deceived by any man who chose to represent himself as Mr. Wood in asking for a telephone connection over the private wire connecting the president's office with the switchboard.

HELD IN $1000 IN ASSAULT CASE

Bigelow's Assailant May Get Extreme Penalty

Husband and Wife In Sorry Plight In Court

Joseph Romanowski, the man who so brutally assaulted Officer Bigelow recently, slashing him with a knife, to escape arrest, was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning and changed his former plea of guilty to one of not guilty. He was represented by Attorney John J. McGuire.

Officer Bigelow, his face covered with bandages, stepped upon the witness stand and told his story of the assault. He said that people had called his attention to the defendant, saying Romanowski had assaulted a woman, and the woman was nearby holding a child and crying. The officer said he reached for the man's collar and Romanowski, turning quickly, grappled with him and struck him in the face with a knife, also drawing the knife across the officer's throat. He then ran away and Officer Bigelow gave chase and finally caught him. Later witness said he found a long cut in the breast of his overcoat when he sent it to be repaired.

Dr. Tilden testified to the officer's wounds, saying that he put in about 17 stitches to close the incisions in the face and neck. He said the victim lost considerable blood.

Superintendent Welch recommended that the case be sent to the superior court, saying that the police court limit sentence was not severe enough to cover so brutal an assault and one which was entirely unprovoked. He said that Romanowski should be given the full penalty of the law for such an act. The man was held in the sum of $1000 for the superior court and will go to jail as no bail was furnished.

Six Months for Theft

John F. McCarthy was arraigned on a charge of larceny of a bracelet, chain, locket, ring, and 14 cents in money from Mary Sam Carter. Officer J. H. Clark took the stand and said the prisoner had taken a room in a lodging house and had been drinking. He said to have entered the room next his and to have taken therefrom the jewelry and money. In answer to the charge he pleaded guilty. He was arrested on the street and had the articles in his possession. McCarthy was sent to the house of correction for a term of six months.

The Gagnons in Court

Frank A. Gagnon, who a month or so ago figured as the receiver of stolen chickens, was in court this morning charged with drunkenness. He pleaded not guilty, but Officers Castles and Ganley testified that he was very drunk when arrested. The last case he was let off easy because of his children. His house, it appears, is poorly conducted and is in a bad environment for the bringing up of young girls.

The man's wife, Cella Gagnon, was also arrested and accused of being a habitual drunkard. She pleaded for a chance and was given a sentence of four months in jail, suspended for six months. Her husband was sent to the state farm.

Case Continued

Henry Hopkins, the man who yesterday was accused of stealing $52 from Eliezer Ledue of Alken street, was brought in this morning and his case was continued to Thursday. It was said that an effort will be made toward complete restitution by relatives of the defendant. Hopkins was represented by Haven G. Hill.

Placed Under Bonds

Demetrius Santos complained that Angelas Paragakos has threatened him and Paragakos was arraigned this morning. On the stand the complainant said he is afraid of the man. Chief Bednorz Welch conducted the prosecution and J. Joseph Hennessy, Esq., represented the defendant. The man was placed under bonds of $100 for six months to keep the peace.

Thanked Court For Sentence

"God bless us all," said: you're a "perfect gentleman," said J. Thomas, who was feeling after listening to a sentence of 30 days in jail by Judge Enright. The man was charged with drunkenness and appeared to be still under the soothing influence of the alcohol. He appeared inclined to call down blessings upon the court and officers. He asked for a chance and drew upon his willingness to work. He had just a few days ago completed a brief jail term.

Other Drunken Offenders

Michael Clunen was arraigned on a charge of drunkenness. Officer Simon Laure testified that he was called in by the man's wife, who complained that her husband had kicked her out into the street. The man will serve four months in the house of correction.

Mary Warren was in on a first offense but was in very bad shape from drink. She was given 10 days to rest up in the county jail.

Michael J. Burns, a fourth offender, was sent to the state farm. Thomas F. McCarthy was fined $5.

SHOE TRIAL CONTINUES

BOSTON, May 27.—The government continued its inquiry into the acquisition of subsidiary companies by the United Shoe Machinery Co. when the trial of the suit for the dissolution of the company was resumed in the United States district court today.

Arthur L. Brown of Providence, R. I., who was especially assigned to the case with Circuit Judges Putnam and Dodge was required to sit in the district court in Providence today. The case was resumed by agreement of counsel with only two judges on the bench. The acquisition of the Merely Button Mfg. Co. of Portsmouth, N. H., was taken up. In addition to making buttons the company made enamel cycles under patent. The United Shoe Machinery Co. was manufacturing enamel cycles when it acquired the cycle business of the Portsmouth concern in December, 1901, having previously acquired the cycle business of J. C. Rhodes & Co. of New Bedford and the enamel cycle company and the Boston East Coast Cycle Co. both of Boston. The United Shoe Machinery Co. now controls practically all of the cycle business of the country. The contracts and agreements by which the subsidiary companies were acquired were introduced as exhibits by the government and Nelson W. Howard, a patent attorney in the employ of the defendant explained the different machinery acquired.

By certain clauses in these contracts and agreements the vendors bound themselves not to engage in the business sold to the defendant during the life of the patents conveyed.

COMMISSIONERS' SALE OF THE McGLONE FARM

Saturday, May 31, at 3 P. M.
AT NORTH BILLERICA

Next to the Billerica Town Farm

I shall sell at public auction, to settle the estate of the late Michael McGlone, the following parcels of real estate:
Lot 1—Consists of 14 acres and 60 rods of land, more or less, that has a good barn and other outbuildings. The land is high, level, and within 15 minutes' walk of the new Boston & Maine car shop, just the piece to cut up into small lots and sell.
Lot 2—Consists of 13 1/2 rods, the homestead site. The buildings were burned. A nice lot.
Lot 3—Consists of 25 acres of land, more or less, that is partly covered with a good growth of mixed wood, some pine. This would make a nice home for a family, with plenty of cleared land to farm.
Lot 4—Consists of 16 acres, more or less, that has a good growth of mixed wood and some timber. The lot has a frontage of 47 rods and 3 links on the Concord river and is much sought for as camp lots.
Lot 5—Consists of a good growth of hard wood.
Lot 6—Consists of 5 1/2 acres of land, more or less, that has a good growth of pine lumber. The lot has a frontage of 50 feet on the Concord river. The wood and timber is a good asset on this lot, as well as the fact that camp lots can be sold on the river front.
The sale of the lots one and two will take place as aforesaid, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, May 31, on said lot one.
The sale of lots three, four, five and six will take place at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, May 31, on lot three as above described.
This is a splendid opportunity for any person that would like to buy a parcel of land that is within 15 minutes' walk of the new Boston & Maine car shop, that will soon be erected, when homes will be sure to be needed. These lots are about 15 minutes' walk from the end of South Lowell electric car line, which will soon be extended to the car shops, permit having been granted for the same.
Terms of Sale: 10 per cent. of the purchase money must be paid as a deposit as soon as each lot is sold. Other terms at sale.
Per order JAMES BURNS, MARTIN CONWAY, M. J. SHARKEY, Commissioners.

IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE SALE OF REAL ESTATE, I WILL SELL THE FARMING TOOLS, WAGONS, ETC.

The widows of veterans are also included in the invitation.

As Against Organization

If a City Tailor would buy the same cloth as in a Merrimack $15.00 Suit and cut and make it singly, it would cost you $25 or $30. And then, too, it would not be as attractive a finished article as ours. While he cuts one, the makers of Merrimack $15 Suits is making them in quantities beyond your imagination. Greater skill and greater economy is the natural result.

You are the beneficiary if you buy your clothes here.

Try one of our $15 Suits this season and see the result. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded without an argument.

NEXT SATURDAY, MAY 31, AT 3.30 O'CLOCK

The James Birtwell property at the corner of Whipple and Swift streets, consisting of a house, stable and large carriage shed and about 6302 square feet of land. Owing to poor health, I have made up my mind to make absolute sale of my property and to dispose of my grocery and butcher business and I have placed the same in the hands of the auctioneer to be sold on the premises regardless of any condition of the weather on the day and hour advertised. The house consists of two tenements and a large store. One tenement of 13 rooms and bath, with steam heat; also a tenement of six rooms with steam heat. The store, which is located on the corner, I occupy myself, also the 12-room tenement. There is also a one-story building with a very nice store fronting on Whipple street.

The barn has three stalls and carriage room for four or five carriages; over the carriage shed there is a large storage room finished in Georgia pine. The buildings are all in good condition inside and out.

The lot has a large frontage on Whipple and Swift streets, with an area of about 6302 square feet.

I am conducting a grocery and provision store and doing a good profitable business in the same, and I will agree to continue the business in the store until the new purchaser is ready to take possession and for some speculation who did not want to continue the business, he could easily rent the property for $75 a month. This location is a first class one, it being within five minutes' walk of the Bleachery, Bunting, Stirling, Ray State and Waterhead mills, also the Helme Electric and Cartridge shops. This property can be seen any time by calling at the store.

Terms: $600 to be paid the auctioneer as soon as struck off. A good, liberal mortgage can remain at 5 per cent.

Per order JAMES BIRTWELL.

WOMAN KILLS INTRUDER

Man Broke Into Her Bedroom

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—Drawing a revolver from beneath a pillow, Mrs. Irene Gasparo, a young married woman, shot and instantly killed Andrea Boschetti when the latter broke into her bedroom at her home in West Philadelphia yesterday, according to the police. Mrs. Gasparo, who is about to become a mother, was alone when Boschetti, who is alleged to have frequently annoyed her with his attentions, broke into the house and attempted to attack her.

After the shooting, the woman, clothed only in a nightdress, ran screaming from the house. Later she was removed to a hospital.

Am. Surety Co. Must Pay

BOSTON, May 27.—The American Surety company of New York must pay $125,000, the amount alleged to have been misappropriated by Henry E. Weston, a trustee, appointed under the will of Nathaniel Weston of Salem. The full bench of the supreme court so decided yesterday.

Bon Marche's New Soda Fountain

The Bon Marche is never satisfied unless it is in the front rank, and right up to the minute in new features for this mammoth department store. For several years past soda has been served at this establishment from what appeared to be the best in the city, but a few weeks ago the old one was taken out, and a new one nearly twice as large installed in its place. The back is made of mahogany and the shelves are filled with the finest line of syrups and other ingredients that go to make up a palatable beverage. In the center of the back is a very large and spacious mirror which on the whole is very beautiful in appearance. A row of lanterns with colored glass and also an illuminated done help to bring out the beauty of this piece of cabinet work. The fountain itself is perfection for neatness and utility and has all the very latest appliances for drawing sodas. The trimmings are silver and the fountain has what is called double section where four attendants can have ample room to draw soda, and wait on as many patrons. The whole is encased in beautiful Italian marble. Today was the first day of the introduction of the new fountain, and they certainly did an immense business. While this fountain is nearly double the size of the old one, yet it takes up less space, giving an opportunity for serving nearly double the number of people. It is the intention of the popular establishment to serve nothing but the very best of everything used in making up college ices and sodas in their various forms. There is nothing in the city that compares with this fountain for elegance and utility.
